Pueblo crewman rejects medal; bitter about Bucher

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The admiral had already pinned the medal to the chest of the former executive officer of the spy ship "Pueblo" when seven years of bitterness suddenly boiled over. The officer handed the medal back to the admiral.

"It is too little, too late ... a cover-up," former Lt. Edward R. Murphy said Thursday. He said the ship's commanding officer Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher caused the continued imprisonment and torture of his crew in 1968 by refusing a North Korean offer to return to their ship and sail to freedom.

Bucher denied the charge.

Rear Adm. Fillmore Gilkerson, commandant of the 11th Naval District, was visibly stunned when the former officer thrust the medal back at him and delivered a bitter speech.

Murphy had already received, and kept, a combat action ribbon and a Purple Heart for the torture he underwent as a prisoner, when he returned the Navy Commendation Medal.

He said Bucher's "self-centered antics ... caused severe mental and physical torture to the crew and canceled our repatriation for nearly three months."

In Hawaii, where he is vacationing, Bucher said, "I don't know what the hell he's talking about. This is the first time I've ever heard of this (North Korean release) offer."

Bucher said if Murphy had such a charge to make, he should have made it at the official Navy inquiry into the loss of the Pueblo and the conduct of its officers and men as prisoners.

"Ed is a little strange," Bucher said. The two men have quarreled before, with Murphy saying that Bucher could have avoided the Pueblo's capture.

North Korean ships surrounded the Pueblo, a U.S. electronic eavesdropping vessel, off the coast of North Korea on Jan. 24, 1968. Bucher surrendered without firing a shot, which caused a heated controversy after the North Koreans released the crewmen 11 months later, Dec. 23, 1968.

Murphy said that in late September of that year, he overheard a Korean officer say that the Pueblo and her crew were to be released on Oct. 11. The ship was to be returned to them, and they could sail on it, he said.

He said that when he relayed this information to Bucher, the commander said "To hell with it."

"I and one other officer accepted the North Korean offer to man the USS Pueblo and return it and the crew to our country," Murphy told the startled award ceremony. The U.S. Navy knew of the proposed release, he said.

"My commanding officer and the other officers declined to man the ship," he said.

After Bucher's refusal, Murphy said the North Koreans treated the prisoners more harshly, causing "needless and permanent damage to many crewmen through mental harassment and physical beatings."

When they were released, North Korea kept the ship. Murphy resigned from the Navy in 1969 and is now a motor home salesman.

"Now, after seven years comes this citation —silent regarding my responsibilities, erasing my courage and forgetting my solemn conviction to the truth ... another attempt at Pueblo cover-up. It oozes of whitewash.

"I therefore decline so shallow an appreciation until the U.S. Navy supports who I am and what I did for my country," Murphy said.

G. Dynamics man killed in air crash

A Claremont man employed by General Dynamics was one of 14 persons killed Thursday when an Ontario-to-Los Angeles commuter plane collided with a small private plane in mid-air over Whittier.

He was identified by General Dynamics officials as W. R. "Bill" Baskett, 47, of 1727 Drew Place, who worked at the Pomona plant as a design specialist on advanced engineering projects.

The victim was enroute to Los Angeles International Airport to connect with a commercial flight.

Other names released by the Coroner's office today but with no hometowns included J. Johnson, Mitchell Kolodnycki, J. Detweiler, and J. Kreiger.

Also listed as dead on the commercial craft were Mr. and Mrs. G. Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Howard, Stan Riblin, John Teicher and Dorothy Martin.

Killed aboard the other plane were William Vanderlinden and Mike Gordon, coroner's deputies said.

Five of the victims are reported to be residents of the Ontario area.

Baskett had been employed by General Dynamics since 1959. Survivors include his widow, Constance, and three children, ages 18, 16, and 12.

Federal inspectors today continued to seek the cause of the tragic event.

"We know that weather was not a factor," said Paul Harrison of the National Transporation Safety Board.

"What we don't know is if the planes had radio contact on their altitudes."

Investigators are sifting through the debris and questioning witnesses.

One witness reported watching the Cessna 150 hit the left side of the Golden West Airlines commuter and the two planes then locked wings. They disintegrated in air, he added.

Debris from the planes crashed into city streets, on the roof of one house, in a backyard, and on the playing field at the Katherine Edwards Junior High School, narrowly missing 300 children who were watching an outdoor basketball game.

The Golden West flight, one of 25 operating daily between Ontario and Los Angeles, had 10 passengers and two crew members aboard.

The Cessna 150 had a flying instructor and student pilot. It had taken off minutes before the collision from Long Beach Municipal Airport.

"I couldn't believe it at first," said Alfred Diaz, 18, who saw the airliner and the Cessna on a collision course over Whittier.

"Their wings sort of touched and locked and then . . . there it was, twisting down with the wings and everything gone. And there were bodies just coming out of it up there."

George Cuevas, 17, said the falling wreckage looked like a "crumpled piece of paper falling from the sky."

The main body of the commuter plane, which had taken off from the Ontario Airport for Los Angeles, plummeted onto a playing field.

The plane's engine and a wing went through the roof and patio of the home of Claude Aguierre, 32, a block away from the school.

"I heard a loud crash and the house shook like an earthquake," said Aguierre, who was alone. "I ran out into the hall and saw the engine in my little girl's room.

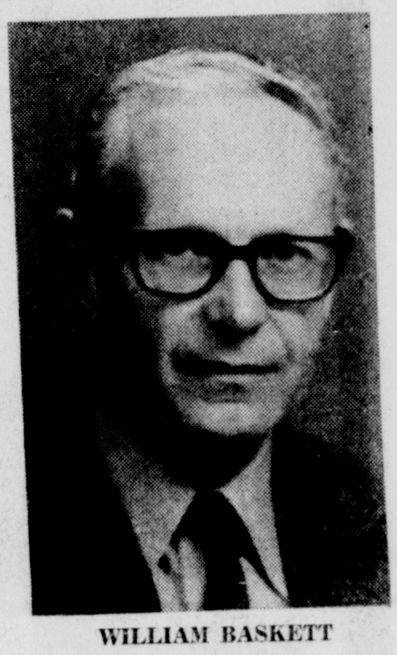

"Thank God, she was at a babysitter's. I called my wife at work and told her we had a plane in our house."

The other wing ended up in a front yard and in the street in front of the home of Arnold R. Pate, 58, who said, "It's a miracle no one was hurt on the ground."

Other fragments of the two planes were scattered over an area of several blocks.

Authorities said it appeared nine bodies were mangled inside the wreckage of the airliner, three were thrown out by the impact of the crash and two were found a quarter-mile away.

Governor unveils his 'no-nonsense' budget

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. today unveiled his first state budget, a record $11.3 billion "difficult times" spending plan that projected a fragile $574 million surplus.

"What I propose to you is a no-nonsense budget," the 36-year-old Democratic chief executive told the legislature.

Among major expenditures, he included a $162.4 million previously authorized cost-of-living increase for welfare recipients; an 8.5 per cent pay raise for state employes; an additional $98 million for environmental protection; an extra $92.3 million for Medi-Cal; and $95 million as a hedge against inflation.

Additional stories on pages 2, 3

For public schools, Brown recommended a $106.5 million increase (4.6 per cent). For the University of California and the state university and colleges, he proposed respective boosts of $71.6 million (14 per cent) and $50.8 million (10.4 per cent). Educators had sought considerably more.

As expected, the biggest-in-the-nation state spending blueprint failed to include any funds to begin meeting the state Supreme Court's "Serrano" school finance ruling. Brown said this would be dealt with "not in the next few months but over a period of time."

Likewise, it provided virtually no funds for new construction at UC, the state university and college system, parks or at other state facilities. He said he may recommend new building later, "if justified."

Insisting the budget "recognizes no sacred cows," the new governor, who examined department money requests personally, abolished the Department of Commerce, included no funds for former Gov. Ronald Reagan's pet "work-or-else" welfare experiment, and cut back his own office budget 7 per cent by eliminating the personal gubernatorial jet plane.

Brown said his fiscal plan "is probably a little tighter than the Reagan budget."

The massive $11,302,826,536 program totaled an increase of only 5.9 per cent over current spending. For the first time in many years, the additional sum fell "substantially below" the growth in the cost of living.

For every man, woman and child in California, the proposal represented an expenditure of about $535. It also totaled five times the size of the first budget signed in 1959 by Gov. Edmund G. "Pat" Brown.

In his message, the new governor noted California faces a "troubled and unpredictable" economy and termed his plan "a budget for difficult times."

"Rising unemployment and declining real incomes threaten to swell state expenditures and reduce revenue growth," he said. "The first test for all of us, and government is no exception, is to live within realistic limits. This budget meets that test."

"The realities of the present economy make unwise anything more than minimal expansion of most state programs," he declared, reasserting his campaign and inaugural promise of "no general tax increase."

The proposal for the fiscal year starting July 1 projected a "prudent" tax surplus of $574 million, including $212.5 million in federal revenue shar-

Incumbent's label denied new trustee

By BOB NAGEY
P-B Staff Writer

Charles D. Hall, winner of Tuesday's special election to the Mt. San Antonio College board, will not be designated as an incumbent in the next election, unless the courts rule otherwise.

Leonard Panish, Los Angeles County registrar of voters, announced today that under the law it was too late to make any changes in ballot designations for the March 4 elections.

Hall beat out 12 other candidates Tuesday for the office that runs from now until March 31. He said he, as well as most of the other candidates, were running for the brief term "primarily so that the winner could be designated as an incumbent."

But Panish ruled today that it was too late to alter any of the ballot designations now. He said the deadline for any changes expired last Friday, the same time as the deadline for filing nomination papers for the March elections.

Hall said he would ask the courts for relief not so much as a challenge to the law, but because of "extenuating circumstances surrounding the case."

Panish's ruling is in direct conflict with earlier decisions by two of his top deputies, who have been saying that there would be ample time to make the change because the ballots would not be printed until later this month.

Such a statement was made in No-

Space junk crumbling; due today

HOUSTON (UPI) — The huge burned out rocket that lifted the Skylab into orbit last May broke into two pieces and dropped lower and lower today toward fiery destruction in earth's atmosphere.

The space agency estimated the huge booster would drop out of orbit sometime during a six-hour period starting at 4:30 p.m. PST, disintegrating into more pieces as it encounters thicker portions of the upper atmosphere.

The separation of the 81-foot hulk into two pieces, which apparently occurred during the night, came as a surprise to engineers who did not expect it to start breaking up until later in the day.

A smaller piece was trailing the largest section by about three seconds. The break apparently was caused by the buffeting of the thin, top fringes of the atmosphere.

"That's all to the good because the more it breaks up, the more likely each piece will be burned completely away," said a NASA spokesman in Washington.

Kissinger urged sending ships toward Viet; Ford said 'no'

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger proposed diverting a U.S. Navy task force toward Vietnam this week, but President Ford overruled him, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch said today.

Instead, the six-ship task force led by the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Enterprise is continuing on its original course—a long voyage home via the Indian Ocean and the Atlantic, the newspaper said.

The disclosure that the ships had unexpectedly steamed out of Subic Bay in the Philippines Tuesday stirred intense worldwide speculation. The initial news report by United Press International from Saigon linked the ships' movement with the fall of the Vietnamese provincial capital of Phuoc Binh earlier that day.

Pentagon spokesman William Beecher said merely that the task force was on an operational mission "not connected with anything going on in South Vietnam." The force includes the carrier, the nuclear-propelled guided missile cruiser Long Beach, two destroyers, a supply ship and an oiler.

"Kissinger saw a possibility of using the routine movement as a device to signal a warning to the North Vietnamese and proposed that the ships change course toward the west and head toward the Vietnamese coast for a time before turning southwest on the normal route into the Indian Ocean," said the story, written by chief Washington Correspondent Richard Dudman.

Eight killed by Mississippi tornado

McCOMB, Miss (UPI) — A tornado slammed through a suburban shopping center and struck a high school in the McComb area today.

At least eight persons were reported killed and a number of others injured.

Witnesses said most of the stores in the shopping center were demolished, including a large department store, a discount store, a service station and a drug store.

"Cars were picked up and turned over like toys," one spectator said.

The Highway Patrol said at least eight deaths were reported in the McComb area but details were not immediately available. A spokesman at the McComb police station said there were numerous injuries.

The tornadoes sprang from a line of thunderstorms that moved across the state in advance of a cold front.

Your income tax

By RAY DE CRANE

Once children reach the age of 19 sticky questions arise over the right of parents to claim them as dependents on their income tax return.

For children who were not yet 19 by Dec. 31, 1974, there is no limit on their income and parents may claim them as dependents so long as the parents furnish chief support.

Once they reach 19 there is a $750 income limitation unless the son or daughter attended school for at least five months of the year. For students, the income limitation is removed, but the element of chief support remains.

This immediately brings on the question of how much a college-age son or daughter can earn and still be claimed as a dependent.

There is no firm answer. It could be one amount for a high school student, and a considerably higher amount for a college student. An income of $1,500 might be enough to disqualify a student commuting to a state college from being a dependent. And a $2,500 income might not be too high to disqualify a student at a high-tuition college where the total expenses are paid by the parents.

The all-important consideration is how much did the student furnish toward his support from his own funds and how much did the parents furnish from their funds. The one with the higher total furnished chief support.

It is not required that the student give his parents any of hs earnings. Whatever he spent himself from his own funds goes into his tabulation.

Support includes expenditures for food, shelter, clothing, education, medical and dental care, recreation, transportation, the cost of gifts and other goods furnished, money given for hair cuts, music lessons and the like.

It does not include life insurance premiums or the purchase of capital item such as an automobile, motorcycle or motorbike. But neither does the purchase of a capital item by your child enter into his tabulation of money spent toward his support.

One remedy is to have your working son or daughter deposit as much of the earnings as possible in a savings account. Money saved cannot be spent and this eases your test of chief support.

Poitical reform law funds doubled

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. today proposed spending more than $3.8 million for enforcement of California political reform laws spawned by Watergate.

The budget proposal would more than double the $1.6 million being spent this fiscal year to help assure honesty in politics.

Brown, one of the chief supporters of Prop. 9 at the June election, called for spending $3 million on enforcing what became the Political Reform Act.

The remaining $800,000 was earmarked for the year-old campaign disclosure law, which was superceded by the new reform act. The money is needed to complete campaign auditing and enforcement from the November general election, a Finance Department spokesman said.

In a message to the legislature accompanying the $11.3 billion budget proposal, campaign reform was the first specific item mentioned by Brown.

The governor called for spending $1.75 million for auditing of campaign spending and other reports required under the reform act. The task is to be done by the state Franchise Tax Board.

Hike environment outlays

Mandatory car smog inspections in Southland, recycling programs, water quality stressed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., warning of a "crisis facing California," called on the legislature today to pump another $114.2 million into protecting the endangered state environment.

The allocation in Brown's otherwise tight budget proposal represented a 61 per cent jump above current spending for the largest percentage increase in a major program, administration spokesmen said.

The governor outlined a battle plan that would intensify the attack on smog and polluted water, conserve natural resources, coordinate the development of clean energy, and implement a statewide program to recover resources.

"The state government has not come to terms with the environmental crisis facing California," Brown said in his budget message. "This budget reflects a new commitment to tackle air and water pollution and provides funds for sensible planning for our future energy needs."

"We are going to see a whole new day in California in the area of environmental activity," predicted Tom Quinn, special assistant to Brown on environmental protection.

The proposal divided up the money between the Air Resources Board, Water Quality Control Board, Solid Waste Management Board and the new Energy Resources Conservation and Development Commission.

The governor singled out the ARB for a $30.9 million allocation to finance 74 new positions to increase environmental and pollution research and expand enforcement of clean air laws.

The allocation included $10.8 million to set up mandatory annual vehicle smog device inspection in Southern California within two years. The program would be the first of its kind in the nation and could become statewide if it successfully keeps vehicles in line with emission standards.

"I've spent seven years in Los Angeles and I've been breathing that stuff," Brown told newsmen, justifying the 50 per cent ARB budget increase over current spending of $20 million.

In addition, the request would establish a "vigorous" enforcement program at new car dealerships to insure compliance with pollution regulations.

Brown also set aside $66 million for the Water Quality Control Board to accelerate efforts to win federal grants for the construction of waste treatment plants.

The increase over current spending of $46.5 million will pay for 74 new staff positions to consider $1.1 billion in new treatment plant grant proposals. The positions will be supported by $3 million in assessment fees applicants will pay the board.

The governor doubled the staff of the Solid Waste Management Board by increasing its budget to $695,944 to begin implementation of a statewide plan to recover energy and resources from wastes.

The budget also included $1 million for the new state Energy Resources Conservation and Development Commission, with another $15.3 million available to develop and coordinate energy conservation and planning for the state's future needs.

The legislature created the commission last year and mandated that it be financed independently through a tax on the kilowatt hour consumption of electricity.

State highway construction plans cut back in budget

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Reflecting troubled economic conditions and greater interest in mass transit, Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.'s proposed budget indicates "vastly reduced" plans for building new highways and freeways.

New construction is planned to span only 200 miles, compared to 318 miles this year.

The actual amount earmarked for highway spending, about $976 million, is just under the present level. But with construction costs jumping 27 per cent in nine months, it amounts to a sharp drop in buying power.

Correspondingly, the budget emphasizes a "shift" from construction to maintenance and operating improvements.

Brown himself has little control over highway spending. Almost half the total is locked into a special state gasoline tax fund, which has been stung by reduced fuel consumption. Nearly an equal amount is provided directly by the federal government, which has cut back the size of its grants.

With voter approval of a statewide ballot measure at the June election, this will be the first year that gasoline taxes can be used for mass transit projects instead of strictly road building.

But administration budget writers said it was too early to estimate how deeply this could cut into already curtailed highway projects.

Cuts also were proposed in the budget for transit planning and the state's tiny mass transit program.

Funds for planning were cut 25 per cent from $22 million to $16 million. The reason is that the massive California Transportation Plan is due to be completed and is aimed at spelling out transit needs into the future.

Retired group to seat new officers

The Pomona Central Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons will meet Monday at 2 p.m. in Pilgrim Congregational Church, 600 N. Garey Ave., for the installation of officers for 1975.

Mrs. Mary Wooten has been re-elected president. Serving with her are Sid Bergersen, vice president; Francis Irber, secretary; and Martha Eakle, treasurer.

Legislators get funds they asked

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. took the traditional hands-off approach today and agreed to give the legislature what it asked for— $54.5 million to operate in the next fiscal year.

This was an increase of less than 5 per cent over the legislature's current estimated expenses.

Brown promised in his election campaign to make the budget document reflect more specifically what the legislature would spend the taxpayers' money on. And, the budget did contain more detail than in previous years.

Current legislative spending, including that for support of its big staff of attorneys, runs about $51.9 million a year. The legislature asked for $54.5 million in the fiscal period starting July 1.

Brown, continuing the tradition of past governors, made no changes in what the lawmakers asked for. In exchange, the legislature won't tinker with the governor's office budget.

For the direct support of his office, Brown sought $2.7 million for the next fiscal year compared with $2.9 million this year.

Education budget: a textbook on restraint

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.'s proposed budget cuts deeply into what educators wanted for new and expanded programs, and provides virtually no new construction for higher education.

It also includes no money to meet the landmark "Serrano" court decision, which found the present state system of school financing unfair and unconstitutional.

Most experts say it will take a large infusion of new money —some estimate up to $1 billion —to bring the state in line with the decision, which is under appeal to the California Supreme Court.

Brown provided increases of $106 million for elementary, junior high and high school education, and $100 million for college and university programs. But this was below what had been requested.

The primary reason given for not granting all the increases was that enrollment in California schools and colleges has leveled off, and in the case of the state colleges, is declining.

While cutting out new constructon funds, the Democratic governor announced he would support two bond issues in the June 1976 election to provide higher education capital outlay money for the following four years.

Here is what educators wanted and what Brown proposed in his "no-nonsense" budget:

—State Department of Education. State schools Superintendent Wilson Riles sought an increase in assistance to local schools from the present $2.34 billion to $2.65 billion. Brown proposed $2.45 billion.

—University of California. Seeking to "catch up" from what they said was neglect under Ronald Reagan, the UC Regents asked for an increase in state aid from the present $512 million to $589 million, not including salary hikes. Brown proposed $543 million.

The regents also asked for $114 million in construction and capital outlay including $53 million for medical and health science facilities. Brown proposed $17 million for projects under way, and nothing for major new construction.

—State University and Colleges. The Board of Trustees sought a budget increase from $487 million to $520 million, not including salary raises. Brown proposed $499 million.

The trustees also sought $76 million for construction. Brown proposed $15 million for projects already under way.

—Community Colleges. The Board of Governors asked for an increase from $333 million to $384 million. Brown agreed to all but $638,000 of the request. The board sought $58 million in state aid for construction outlays. Brown proposed $20 million.

Major construction funds were not granted as part of an overall tightening of capital outlay projects in the Brown budget. But the governor said he wanted to talk with educators and left open the door for possibly approving some of the original requests.

No additional money was included in the budget for child care centers, which Brown promised during his campaign to expand.

He told newsmen he wanted to discuss the subject with mothers and other interested persons, and added, "I wasn't ready to define my particular stragegy in that area (in the budget proposal)."

Brown also provided no money to expand the state's early childhood education program, which is a major project of Suprintendent Riles.

Financial assistance to students was given a new emphasis in the budget. Brown increased state scholarship and loan aid 22 per cent from $43 million to $57 million.

Another $14 million was earmarked for aid to low-income students through the Educational Opportunities Program. Included for the first time, was $1.1 million for the program at the University of California, provided matching money is produced by the regents.

The remainder of the Educational Opportunities Program funds go to the state colleges and community colleges.

The capital outlay and construction projects which had been requested, but refused by Brown, ranged from a new car for the community college chancellor to a proposal that UC Irvine purchase the Orange County Medical Center.

On the latter item, the university asked for $2.5 million to buy the facility and another $5 million for equipment and supplies.

Also not included in the budget was a request for $35 million in expanded classroom facilities at the state colleges, and $2 million for campus improvements at UC Santa Cruz.

Job cutbacks the heaviest in 29 years

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America's private industries chopped 675,000 jobs from their payrolls in December to cap the biggest two-month cutback in 29 years, the Labor Department said today.

The report said three-quarters of the nation's industries shortened their payrolls in December, indicating ailing automobile makers aren't the only ones cutting back.

The December cutbacks were added to 465,000 payroll jobs lost in November for a total of 1.1 million lost opportunities. That was the largest since 2.2 million payroll jobs were cut in July and August, 1945.

December's cutback was the biggest one-month payroll drop since 847,000 jobs were lopped by industry in December, 1957.

And the December cutbacks do not reflect more planned layoffs which the automobile industry announced this week.

In a related report, the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said poverty area workers were hit hardest with a jobless rate of 11 per cent at the end of 1974.

The Labor Department reported last week that nationwide unemployment in December reached a 13-year high of 7.1 per cent.

"About half of the metropolitan poverty area residents are black, and their rate increased to 14.3 per cent from 10.5 per cent a year earlier," the report said.

Payroll employment totaled 77.7 million last month, today's report said.

In rural and urban poverty areas together, the jobless rate reached 7.7 per cent in 1974.

The December decline in jobs in industry was concentrated in goods-producing sectors, but was most severe in manufacturing industries where employment cutbacks were 505,000 during the month.

Since December, 1973, factory jobs have declined by 1.2 million.

Retail trade jobs decreased by 135,000 in December, which would have been expected to reflect increases instead of declines because of Christmas season activity.

Chrysler Thursday said three car and one truck assembly plants will be closed next week, idling 62,308 workers. General Motors already had announced it will close seven assembly plants and eliminate second shifts at seven others in moves that will put at least 100,000 workers off the job.

Ford this week had close to 65,000 workers idled either on temporary layoffs or by indefinte furloughs and industry sources have indicated that number would increase next week.

Ford ready to ask emergency hike in Viet aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford thinks U.S. aid to South Vietnam and Cambodia is inadequate and is prepared to ask Congress for more aid to Indochina on an emergency basis.

"He believes the current levels authorized by Congress are inadequate," White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen told reporters Thursday.

Nessen said Ford was deeply concerned by the recent Communist takeover of Phuoc Binh, a provincial capital 75 miles north of Saigon this week, but indicated that Ford considered U.S. aid to Indochina insufficent even before the latest Communist battlefield success.

Nessen said requests for additional aid were under "intensive consideration" but declined to say how much the administration might ask Congress for.

The White House requested $1.5 billion in military aid for South Vietnam this fiscal year but Congress authorized $1 billion and only $700 million was actually spent.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who met with Ford Wednesday night after returning from a tour of Asia, said he would oppose any effort to increase military aid for Vietnam.

"Additional aid means more killing, more fighting," Mansfield said. "This has got to stop sometime."

How taxpayer's dollar is spent

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Under Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.'s first budget proposal, the biggest chunk of the taxpayer's dollar will be spent on health and welfare with the second largest sum going to elementary and secondary education.

It was just the opposite under former Gov. Ronald Reagan's last budget proposal. Much of the change can be attributed to growing unemployment rolls and declining school enrollment.

Brown's budget would provide 27.2 cents of the taxpayer's dollar for health and welfare and 22.4 cents for elementary and secondary education. The respective figures under Reagan were 24.5 cents and 28.5 cents.

The remainder of the Brown budget would be much the same proportionally as Reagan's last budget. Here is how the rest of the taxpayer's dollar would be spent under the proposed 1975-76 budget:

Property tax relief, 11.2 cents; higher education, 13.5 cents; business and transportation, 7.7 per cent; agriculture and general services, 1.9 cents; shared revenue with local government, 7 cents; resources, 3.3 cents; miscellaneous, 6.8 cents.

Here is how the same dollar would be collected:

Sales tax, 34.5 cents; personal income tax, 27.4 cents; bank and corporation tax, 9.7 cents; highway users taxes, 10.7 cents; motor vehicle license fees, 3.3 cents; inheritance and gift taxes, 2.2 cents; insurance tax, 2.1 cents; liquor taxes and fees, 1.3 cents; cigarette tax, 2.5 cents; horseracing fees, .8 cents; miscellaneous, 5.5 cents.

ing funds. Of this, $552 million is carried over from Reagan's projected surplus for the current year.

But in words strikingly similar to those often used by Reagan, the governor warned the Democratic-dominated legislature against sending him any new spending programs that would eat into the surplus.

"Better government does not always require more spending," Brown said. "Our primary task is to redirect effort without escalating cost."

"If the recession worsens, much or all of the surplus could be eliminated because of reduced revenues and legally required additional expenditures for welfare and health care," he said. "I will oppose any legislation which would reduce necessary revenues or raise general taxes."

Brown personally conducted a briefing for newsmen and declared, "The days of Sixties liberalism ... that's over with."

He characterized such liberalism, in part, "as adding money to chase programs, and hire professionals, while leaving health care where it was 10 years ago, the kids not able to read or write, continuing to pollute (and) the criminal justice system neither punishes nor rehabilitates nor deters nor protects society."

Brown said he would give the plan further "scrutiny not surgery" as the clouded economic picture became more clear in May when revised revenue projections are made.

He forecast a slight 8.7 per cent growth in revenues, but noted business taxes would fall by about $135 million below current levels and interest income would decline by $29 million.

State Finance Director Roy M. Bell, a 29-year veteran of shepherding state budgets, said if the economy failed to improve as some economists expect it will in the final months of 1975, projected tax revenue could fall $3 business taxes would fall by about $135 million below current levels and interest income would decline by $29 million.

State Finance Director Roy M. Bell, a 29-year veteran of shepe would decline by $29 million.

vember by Asst. Chief Deputy Leslie Beck, who has charge of Panish's elections office.

Hall said similar statements were made to him and to other candidates by Mrs. Marguerite Brown, the deputy registrar who had charge of the MSAC elections.

He said that if the candidates had been told that the winner would not be designated as an incumbent, a decided advantage at the ballot box, there might not have been a special election.

"Without the incumbency designations for the winner, I'm sure most of the candidates would have withdrawn, rather than to subject the district ot the cost of $55,000," he said. "I know I would have considered it strongly."

Hall also questioned the timing of Panish's announcement.

"It seems hard to believe that while Mr. Panish's two deputies were assuring the candidates that the winner would be listed as an incumbent two months ago, he never contradicted them until after the results were known," he said. "It makes one wonder what kind of a game is behind this."

Panish said today that he was not aware of his deputies' statements, and that no one had ever contacted him until Thursday about the incumbency issue, when Hall called him.

He said he asked for a ruling from the office of County Counsel John H. Larson, and was told that under Section 10301-A of the Election Code, the occupational designation of candidates could not be changed after the time for filing nomination papers closed. Hall listed himself as an educator.

Hall said his campaign committee was preparing a lawsuit to challenge Panish's decision in court. He said he would ask for an injunction to stop the county from printing the ballots until the issue was decided.

Deputies jail suspect

Burglary victim wrestles bayonet from intruder

A Cucamonga man managed to wrestle a large bayonet-type knife from a burglar who broke into his motel room at 9570 Foothill Blvd. Thursday night, according to West End sheriff's deputies.

The suspect, identified as Clarence LaVerne Hill, 25, of 9570 Foothill Blvd., Cucamonga, was arrested by sheriff's deputies a short time after the 10:40 p.m. incident in the motel.

According to deputies, John Stanley Marciniak, 25, returned to the motel about 10:40 p.m. and found the suspect inside his room.

The suspect drew the large knife and threatened him with it, but Marciniak grabbed his arm and wrestled with him for several minutes.

Finally Marciniak wrested the knife from the other man, who fled the room. Marciniak chased the burglar for some distance but finally lost him.

Sheriff's deputies found a man who matched the suspect's description in another room and he was arrested.

Marciniak was not injured in the altercation.

Hill has been booked in the West End Jail for investigation of first degree burglary.

Ontario police this morning are searching for two men, one armed with a revolver, who robbed the Gllenkamp

SPOTLIGHT ON CRIME

Shoe Store and a shoe clark at 946 N. Mountain Ave. of a small amount of cash Thursday evening.

Police said the two men, both Caucasians in their early 20's, entered the store about 6 p.m. One of the men drew a revolver and ordered clerks Esther O. Woods and Richard Gerety, 18, to hand over cash in the register.

Gerety told police he put the cash in a white Bank of America cloth bag and handed it to the robbers. The robbers then ordered Gerety to give them his wallet. Both clerks were ordered inside of the bathroom and the robbers fled.

Ontario police also were searching for three men who broke into a garage and severely beat a victim of a Dec. 14 robbery in the West End area.

Police said that Ralph Leonard Lucas, 43, of 938 Mariposa Ave. on Thursday morning walked into his garage and was confronted by three Caucasian men who pushed him back into his home asking him if he had any "dope." Lucas told them he had none and the three men proceeded to beat and kick him.

Lucas, who was treated at San Antonio Community Hospital, told police he believed the three men were the same men who robbed him in the county area on Dec. 14. Police said the victim was probably being intimidated by the burglars.

Also in Ontario police were stepping up patrols in the area of the Ontario High School today, fearing a repeat of an incident Thursday afternoon when a group of students attacked another group of students on campus.

Richardson named envoy to Britain

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Elliot L. Richardson, who resigned as President Richard Nixon's attorney general during the "Saturday Night Massacre," has a new job —in London, as ambassador to the Court of St. James.

President Ford made the appointment Thursday, saying: "I warmly welcome Elliot Richardson back into the service of our country and am confident that he will represent America with the highest distinction."

His appointment as U.S. ambassador in London probably removes him as a candidate for president in 1976 or as an opponent of another eminent Bostonian, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

Banks lower prime interest rates

By United Press International

First National City Bank and Bankers Trust Co., major New York banks, today lowered their prime rate to 10 percent, and several other major banks trimmed their business loan rates by one-quarter percentage point to 10 per cent.

The 10 per cent rate announced by Citibank and Bankers Trust is the lowest in the banking system. Last week, Citibank, after several weeks of holding at 10 per cent, raised to 10¼.

Bankers Trust cut its prime rate one-half percentage point from 10½ per cent.

Two Chicago banks, the Continental and Northern Trust, announced a reduction in their prime lending rate from 10½ per cent to 10¼ per cent effective today.

Mellon Bank of Pittsburgh also cut its prime rate to 10½ per cent.

The reduction in the prime rate, the interest banks charge their most creditworthy corporate customers, reflects a lowering of key interest rates charged by the Federal Reserve bank and a lessening of demand for business loans.

The Federal Reserve has sought to bring prime interest rates down to stimulate business and lessen the impact of the recession.

Lawyers refused to give details of any financial settlement among the four.

Police chief backs pistols for citizens

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The city police commission Thursday killed a motion favoring outlawing pistol ownership by private citizens.

The action came after strong opposition to the motion from Police Chief Edward M. Davis, who said "people need guns to protect themselves" because the police department cannot "provide enough protection" on its own.

The motion urged that the commission support legislation "looking toward registration and eventual abolition of handguns." Davis said most city residents would oppose such legislation.

Commissioner Robert Weil, who offered the motion, responded that "if heavily armed vigilantes are needed, we might just as well hang up the police department." He added that he did not believe that was the case.

County discovers 20 checks missing

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Even as the list of suspects grows in an alleged Mafia scheme involving blank checks stolen from the city treasury, investigators discovered that 20 blank checks on the county treasury are missing.

County Auditor-Controller Mark Bloodgood alerted the sheriff's department Thursday that the checks are missing, and warned banks not to cash them. They are county payroll checks numbered 222-4781 to 222-4800.

Meanwhile, the Los Angeles Times said investigators suspect three Florida men of being involved in the city check fraud plan. Three men have already been arrested in the city investigation and a New Jersey man has been charged and agreed to surrender.

Eighteen blank—but signed— checks were stolen from a closely guarded room at city hall last March. Attempts to pass some of them failed, but one, filled in for almost $1 million, was accepted by a New York City bank, and the funds transferred through New York and Swiss banks last month to Amsterdam, where $810,000 was withdrawn. Interpol said the cash disappeared with Aime Nassif, described as a notorious international swindler from Lebanon.

Investigators have said that after the checks were stolen, there was an attempt by a local group to pass them, which failed. This group then apparently made contact with organized crime figures, with the financial sophistication to handle such a fraud, and agreed to cooperate.

A Senate organized crime tipster, Michael Raymond, revealed the scheme to authorities and collected a $45,000 reward for helping capture two of the suspects by posing as a coconspirator. He told a court hearing that the Mafia hoped to net almost $9 million from the city checks, and that he was told there were other such blank, local government checks available in the underworld.

The Times reported today that investigators believe three Miami men played a key role, including the nephew of a reputed Mafia leader. The nephew has a criminal record, the newspaper said, and is under investigation along with a former Californian with a counterfeiting conviction and the director of an international investment firm.

The county checks were found to be missing when a computer operator noticed that the numbers on paychecks being printed did not match the numbers on the coordinating issuing tape.

The checks come preprinted in a fanfold chain. Investigation determined that 20 checks had been removed from the chain, and the break neatly taped over so as not to be noticeable.

Bloodgood said that although the printing plant sometimes must break and tape the chain for technical reasons, such an interruption is always accounted for by a note accompanying the sealed boxes of checks.

2nd expert convinced man insane

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A psychiatrist testified Thursday that if Muharem Kurbegovic, the alleged "Alphabet bomber" is only pretending to be insane, he is doing an excellent job of it.

"If he's a fake, he's No. 1, the best I've ever seen," Dr. Michael Coburn told a sanity trial for Kurbegovic.

Coburn said he had no doubts that Kurbegovic really is insane.

Another psychiatrist testified earlier that Kurbegovic is a paranoid schizophrenic who suffers from delusions and hallucinations and is "a raving maniac...a mad bomber."

The prosecution maintains that Kurbegovic is pretending to be insane to escape trial for bombing the Los Angeles International Airport Aug. 6. The blast, the deadliest ever at a U.S. civil airport, killed three persons, wounded 35 and wrecked a large portion of the terminal.

The prosecution argues that Kurbegovic has been told that the district attorney's office will seek the death penalty for him, a good motive for Kurbegovic to feign madness, thus escaping trial.

Coburn was cross examined on Kurbegovic's refusal to speak. Kurbegovic, maintaining he is a mute, has communicated by notes since his arrest.

However, neighbors and others have said he can speak, and Kurbegovic successfully represented himself in court and at legal hearings in the past.

Prosecutors indicated they suspect Kurbegovic does not want to speak because the "alphabet bomber" took responsibility for his acts on cassette tape recordings, and his voice might be recognized.

L.A. council moves to limit mayor's term

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The City Council Thursday ordered a Charter amendment drafted to limit future mayors to two four-year terms.

The Council also acted on a motion to limit the city attorney and city controller to two terms. The Council's Charter and Administrative Code Committee will conduct hearings on the motion.

Mayor Tom Bradley had urged support for the limit, which he said was based on a motion he introduced as a councilman in May, 1973.

Although he would be excluded from the two-term limit, Bradley emphasized that he does not intend to serve more than two terms.

"Eight years are long enough for the mayor to accomplish or move his programs and then move on and let new leadership take over," he said.

Bradley's predecessor, Sam Yorty, was mayor for three terms before he was defeated in July, 1973.

Councilman David Lorenzen introduced the motion regarding the city attorney's and city controller's terms after City Attorney Burt Pines requested the council include his office in such an amendment.

Both Bradley and Pines said they do not favor any limit on length of City Council terms.

U.S. holds Nixon mementos

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — Along with Richard Nixon's tapes, the federal government has seized his personal mementos and even his wife's and daughter's dresses, a leading Nixon supporter complained.

Rabbi Baruch Korff, the only outside visitor Nixon received on his 62nd birthday Thursday, said Nixon's personal belongings had been kept from him "without reason and without excuse" since Nixon left them behind when he resigned the presidency last August.

Korff said these include his daughter Julie Eisenhower's wedding dress, the gowns Mrs. Nixon and Julie wore to his inauguration, and Nixon's personal collection of souvenirs of a lifetime of politics.

In Washington, a White House spokesman said the problem was under discussion by lawyers for Nixon and the government.

The Los Angeles Times quoted a White House spokesman as saying that a substantial amount of Nixon's personal effects, left in the Executive Office Building, were being withheld because the act of Congress that pays for Nixon's small staff includes language "that can be construed as mandating the withholding from the former president of anything acquired during his term in office."

FOR BETTER, OR WORSE — Fort Devens parachutist Spec. 4 David G. Berry, 21, of Crystal, Mich., in hospital bed, is married to Katherine H. Zacharkewicz, 21, of South Easton, Mass., left, in bedside ceremony performed by the Rev. William Fox at Goddard Memorial Hospital, Stoughton, Mass. Both are recovering from an auto accident the day before they originally planned to be married. Berry suffered a broken hip and leg and Miss Zacharkewicz a broken right arm.

Firm recalling frozen Chinese foods

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Although officials say no one has gotten sick, Banquet Foods, Inc. of St. Louis is recalling frozen chicken chow mein and frozen beef chop suey which might contain "underprocessed" bean sprouts.

Banquet officials said the recall was launched because the Food and Drug Administration told them that some shipments of bean sprouts which Banquet uses in its Chinese foods "may have been underprocessed" by Great China Food Products Co.

The Agriculture Department said underprocessing "might cause a potential public health hazard," althought it said the FDA has not traced any consumer illness to other shipments of the sprouts.

Spokesmen said the recall covers frozen 7-and 32-ounce packages of chicken chow mein "without noodles and beef chop suey without rice.

Nixon, beset by health and money problems, turns 62

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — Richard Nixon turned 62 today in quiet isolation. He is sick, faces money problems, and has just seen the aides who stood by him convicted and his chief accuser set free.

In addition, his closest friends have abandoned plans for a monument to his shattered presidency.

An aide said there would be no family celebration at the Nixon estate here. Nixon's daughters, Julie Eisenhower and Tricia Cox, flew to San Clemente for the Christmas holidays but have left and had no plans to return today.

Nixon has only a small staff, headed by former press secretary Ron Ziegler.

So far as is known, the former president has not left his compound since he was released Nov. 14 from a Long Beach, Calif., hospital, except for one brief visit to the naval hospital at the Marine Corps' Camp Pendleton, just five minutes away, for blood tests because of his continuing illness.

He was visited Wednesday by Rabbi Baruch Korff, who tried to rally citizens to Nixon's support in the last weeks before the Watergate scandal forced Nixon's resignation Aug. 9.

At the same time, it was announced in Washington that John Dean, Nixon's former White House counsel who became the chief witness against him and his top aides, was being set free. Dean's Watergate sentence was commuted by U.S. District Court Judge John Sirica.

Only last week, Nixon issued a statement, following the conviction in Sirica's court of his four top aides, that he was "deeply anguished by Watergate, and that these men who were among his closest aides and their families have suffered so much and that their lives have been so tragically touched by Watergate."

Nixon continues to take bloodthinning medication and cannot travel or spend long periods on his feet.

Nixon's hospital bill ran to thousands of dollars, and he had no federal-employe medical insurance, blamed on an oversight by his staff when he was in office.

A $226,000 mortgage payment on his $1.5 million oceanside estate here is due this month. Nixon got a six month extension last year because he could not meet the bill. Spokesmen have avoided saying whether he can pay now. He has other money problems, and his financial counselors have advised him to sell the former Florida White House at Key Biscayne.

Without the presidential staff, the California estate has become run down. Mrs. Nixon, in blue jeans, dug up some of the rose bushes that could no longer be cared for and distributed them to other institutions.

Nixon had planned a major monument to his presidency, a Nixon presidential library. The commission to build the library was composed of 25 of his closest confidants, including his brothers, son-in-law David Eisenhower, lifelong financial backers, and Watergate defendants John Mitchell, H.R. Haldeman, John Ehrlichman, Herbert Kalmbach and others.

The commission voted earlier this month to abandon the project and dissolved itself, reportedly with Nixon's consent.

Study shows no death link to hard water

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A UCLA study has concluded that the hardness of drinking water appears to have no effect on death rates from heart disease or on infant mortality.

The school of public health study found no relationship between the hardness of water and death rates.

Three communities —Reseda, Burbank and Downey —were surveyed due to their differing amounts of calcium carbonate.

Calcium carbonate gives water its hardness.

Honeymooners win $26,565 jackpot

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — James and Brenda Harrington were married New Year's eve, and on New Year's day she helped celebrate the occasion by collecting a slot machine jackpot of $26,565.90.

The San Pablo, Calif., couple put a dollar in a machine at the El Dorado Hotel in which the jackpot builds up. The payoff came when four sevens lined up.

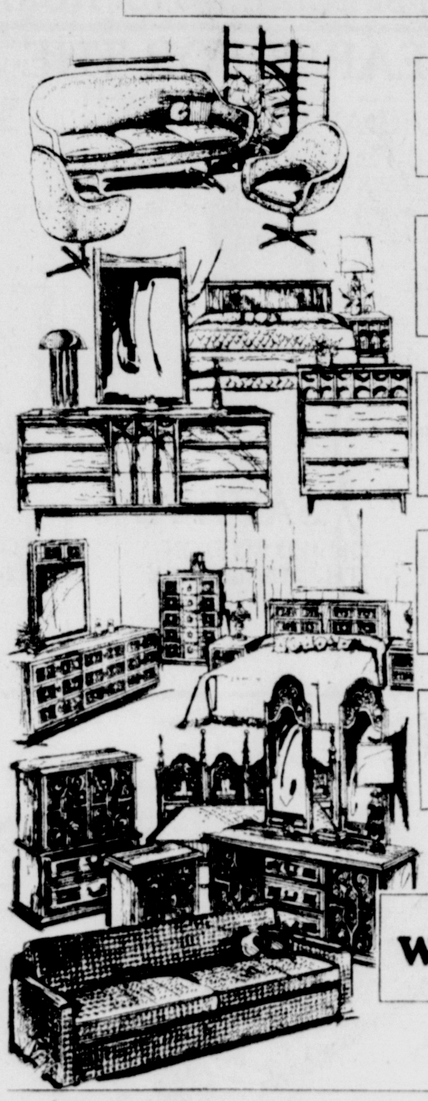

"It's wonderful," Mrs. Harrington said. "What a honeymoon!"

Acupuncture successful in drug cures

TAIPEI (UPI) — Taiwan doctors claim they have found a speedy, inexpensive and absolutely painless cure for drug addiction —traditional Chinese acupuncture.

A team of Chinese doctors and acupuncturists, organized by Dr. Allen Lau of the American Bureau for Medical Aid to China, have been giving free needle treatments to drug addicts in Taiwan since last October.

"The cases we have worked on have all been successful," Dr. Lau said.

He said the traditional Chinese treatment can cure an addict in about four or five days and a heavy user in about nine days.

He said doctors insert needles into various points of the body and use electrical stimulation to get the addict off the drug dependency.

Although some Hong Kong hospitals have also experimented in acupuncture therapy for treatment of drug addicts, Dr. Lau said, his team's method is more extensive.

For instance, Lau said, his team found that points on the upper ear lobe should also be needled and stimulated by electricity in addition to five other points located below the knee, about the wrist, beneath the navel, and in the calf.

Lau said a Briton who is a heavy heroin user and who is under detention in Taipei on charges of drug trafficking, volunteered for the acupuncture treatment and was "completely cured" after nine days of therapy.

The patient, who said he took two grams of pure heroin daily for 2½ years, tried methadone and psychological treatments but had no success, the doctor said.

Deprived of heroin in jail, the patient was highly irritable and complained of serious back pains, cramps and nausea before he tried the acupuncture therapy, Dr. Lau said.

But after three treatments, each lasting about 45 minutes, the patient's urge for heroin lessened, his muscles relaxed and he became less irritable. After six treatments all symptoms were gone, and after nine days, the patient's craving for heroin disappeared completely, Dr. Lau said.

Bridge

Game's rules are flexible

By Oswald & James Jacoby

It is a good principle of defensive play to stick to leading the suit you have started with. It is a pretty good general principle but there are times when you must abandon it and try for something better.

	NORTH ♠ J 5 4 ♥ Q J 10 ♦ 7 5 ♣ A Q 10 9 4	10
WEST ♠ 10 9 8 ♥ 8 7 4 2 ♦ K Q J 10 3 ♣ 5		EAST ♠ K Q 7 ♥ 9 5 3 ♦ 8 6 2 ♣ K 7 3 2
	SOUTH (D) ♠ A 6 3 2 ♥ A K 6 ♦ A 9 4 ♣ J 8 6

Both vulnerable

West	North	East	South
			1 N.T.
Pass	3 N.T.	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead—K ♦

West opens the king of diamonds against South's three no-trump contract. South can't afford to win that trick since he must take a club finesse later. West continues with the 10 and again South must duck.

At this point a West with a one-track mind will lead a third diamond. South will win; take and lose the club finesse and watch East suffer, since East won't be able to do anything to get West into the lead.

Before leading that third diamond West must realize that the play is hopeless. Maybe nothing else will be any better, but a shift of the 10 of spades might just be a winner. He should make that shift.

It will be a winner! South will have lost two diamonds and will have to lose two spades and a club later.

1,000 applying for 32 city jobs

Some file for five different positions in federal aid project

The city of Pomona began accepting applications for 32 jobs funded under the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) this week and has been met with an overwhelming response.

With unemployment running at near 10 per cent in the valley, the city received more than 1,000 applications since Monday.

City officials reported that some applicants applied for as many as five of the job categories being offered.

The categories include administrative aides, administrative clerks, bookmobile driver, building inspector trainees, building license inspector trainee, combination building inspector, community workers, maintenance workers, library interns, mechanic's helpers, and police cadets.

All the positions, which have salary ranges of about $600 to $880 per month, were advertised in Sunday's Progress-Bulletin and will again be listed in next Sunday's edition in the classified section.

The application deadline for theses jobs is Wednesday, with the positions to be filled by early February.

Although the jobs are guaranteed only through June 30, many will continue past that date.

In addition to the 32 jobs currently listed, the city will soon be offering approximately 10 more positions, which will include computer programmer and four positions for the city's Senior Citizen Office.

In all, the city has received some $600,000 in CETA funds for public service employment.

The city expects to provide about 100 jobs with the funds, more than half of which have already been filled since last August.

Pomona has also shared a portion of the funds with the Pomona Unified School District and Cal Poly, each of which handles its own hiring for the positions provided.

Generally, only Pomona residents who have been out of work for 30 days are eligible for the jobs.

In the hiring process, preference is given to minorities and disadvantaged persons. The employment is not restricted to these two groups, however.

For information concerning the CETA job program, persons may contact the Personnel Office at city hall or call 620-2291.

JUDGE ZIEBARTH SWORN IN

Judge Kenneth Ziebarth, 43, left, is being sworn in as San Bernardino County's newest and youngest Superior Court judge by Superior Court Judge Clifton L. Allen. The public judicial installation ceremony was held at Gardiner Spring Auditorium on the Chaffey High School Campus in Ontario Thursday.

Some hope for diagonal Ontario Airport runway

By L. T. ROGERS
Asst. City Editor

Developing a diagonal runway at Ontario International Airport for take-offs by commercial jets is not a hopeless task.

So reported Clifton Moore, general manager of the Los Angeles Department of Airports, who appeared Thursday before the Friends of Ontario International Airport, a local support group.

"There are many negative aspects on the diagonal runway and we are trying to analyze the economic situation to see if there is any possibility it can be built."

The diagonal runway proposal is the outgrowth of a land use study for the areas of Ontario immediately west of the airport. It is aimed at eliminating noise pollution over residential areas.

Should the runway be built, planes would depart in a more southerly direction over more open areas. The present main runway runs from the east to west.

Moore emphasized the diagonal runway concept is separate from a proposal to build a replacement runway at the airport.

Officials propose building a new east-west runway 750 feet south of and parallel to the existing main runway. The eastern threshold, however, would be shifted 2,000 feet further east to allow departing planes to be at a higher altitude when going over residential areas.

Moore said his staff is going forward with both runway projects. "And if we can do both, we will have an airport in the community that can grow for a long time."

But, he added, the principal problem with the diagonal runway involves economics. He said there seem to be sufficient laws to accommodate the project, but asked "can we afford this?"

Moore said he is now seeking to determine the costs involved. "Then we will go forward and see where the money will come from."

The staff study may be completed by April or May, he noted. It will then be presented to the Los Angeles Board of Airport Commissioners. If the project is found feasible, more studies could be conducted.

Officials reported only commercial jet takeoffs would be permitted on the diagonal runway because of the nearby mountains and other aeronautical obstructions.

Some factors involved in its development include a set of railroad tracks that would have to be relocated or placed below ground level and Mission Boulevard.

Regarding a second environmental impact report for the replacement runway, Moore said his department has given the Olsen Laboratories, Inc., the firm making the study, a directive to answer questions and complete the report.

This will then go to the airport commission in a form ready for submission to Washington, D. C., he added.

After the meeting, Robert Davidson, the airport department's deputy general manager, said the second report may be completed within the next 60 to 90 days.

It was originally set for completion for late 1974 but a change in personnel had caused the delay, he added.

The new study was ordered to answer questions raised at public hearings on an initial environmental impact study completed by the Northrop Corp.

Areas for additional analysis include impact of vehicular traffic, aircraft mix projected for the 1980s, re-definition of noise impacts by aircraft operations, and the feasibility of extending the threshold beyond the 2,000 feet proposed.

A first for S.B. County

Judge takes oath in public ceremony

Kenneth G. Ziebarth Jr. was formally installed as a judge in the San Bernardino County Superior Court Thursday afternoon in the first public judicial installation in the history of the county.

Ziebarth, 43, a judge in the West Valley Municipal Court since March 1971, won a run-off election in November against Redlands attorney Charles A. Bierschbach, receiving more than 55 per cent of the vote.

More than 300 persons attended the installation at Spring Auditorium at Chaffey High School, Ontario.

Superior Court Judge Clifton L. Allen, presiding over the West Valley court, administered the oath of office. Judge Richard C. Garner, presiding judge of the San Bernardino County Superior Court, gave the opening remarks in the formal ceremony.

Judge Ziebarth, after being presented the robe of judicial office, told the audience that a "Superior Court judge looks upon his office as the opportunity for public service." He said he has accepted the position of the county's family law judge. He said the county family judge "must be committed to the institution of marriage and encourage strong family relationships."

Judge Ziebarth was appointed as a Municipal Court judge in 1971 by the former Gov. Ronald Reagan. He succeeded Judge Garner, who at that time had been elected to the Superior Court.

Prior to going to the bench Judge Ziebarth was a partner in an Upland law firm, served as a city councilman and mayor of Montclair, was the Chino city attorney for a time, and was active in many civic affairs.

He makes his home in Upland with his wife, and their nine children.

Judge Ziebarth will assume his new duties at San Bernardino immediately.

Meanwhile, Judge Edward Fogg of the Superior Court has assumed his new duties in West Valley Superior Court while Judge Henry M. Busch moved the bench in the San Bernardino Superior Court. Judge William Pitt Hyde was formally installed last week as a West Valley Municipal Court Judge taking Judge Ziebarth's place.

City will hold hearings on federal aid spending ideas

Chino city councilmen have scheduled two public hearings on Tuesday and Jan. 21 to receive suggestions from residents on how to use nearly $2 million in federal Housing and Community Development Act funds.

The council this week also approved a resolution authorizing the city to pay for the preparation of the grant application for the funds.

Officials also will request an advance of funds, up to 10 per cent of the first year's allotment of $474,000 for planning and preparation of the application.

Based on Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) information, the city expects to receive $1,896,000 over the next five years for community development activities.

In other business, councilmen approved a partial first land acquisition payment to the county of $21,320.98 for costs related to the Chino Civic Center site, under a city-county agreement.

Also, the council declared intention to vacate certain streets and alleys in the civic center area, and set a public hearing for Feb. 4 on the matter.

Upland reservoir plan is approved

SAN BERNARDINO (CNS) — The county planning commission has approved a proposal by the City of Upland to establish a 7.5 million gallon reservoir in an undeveloped manufacturing area near 16th street and Benson Avenue.

The reservoir, to be located on a 2½-acre site, will be essentially above ground. Its diameter is 220 to 240 feet and will be about 30 feet high.

Lee S. Travers, Upland city manager, said in a report that if the reservoir were to break the water would rush southwest to a vast pit area about a half mile long where the flood waters would be disipated.

Travers said the area is presently designated for use as open space and no development is planned for the area. The closest subdivision is about a half mile to the east, he said.

Motocross racing slated for young area bicyclists

Bicycle motocross races, sponsored by the Claremont YMCA and the Claremont Police Officers' Association, will be held Saturday at Claremont Collegiate School, 3105 Padua Ave., beginning at 8:30 a.m.

The heat races are open to all boys and girls 8 and older.

Trophies will be awarded to riders finishing first, second and third.

The motocross course involves a series of jumps, turns, straightaways and a water hazard. Participants are required to wear long pants, long-sleeve shirts, shoes, and helmets as protection against spills. The Y will lend helmets to children not having their own.

The Y and the association will time the heats, and riders may compare times between different racing days as well as against other riders.

Riders who have participated in a motocross race may bring a friend who has never participated and who will be admitted for half price. Admission price for racing is 75 cents for YMCA members, and $1 for nonmembers.

More information may be obtained by phoning 621-4010, 1:15 to 5 p.m. on weekdays.

Pollution control unit erupts in blaze at factory

Pomona Textiles, 1980 S. Reservoir St., lost $10,000 in equipment Thursday morning in a fire in part of its filtering system for air pollution.

The Pomona manufacturing plant suffered only $500 in structural damage to the building, but lost $10,000 in textile materials and machinery.

Firemen said a gas flame used in the textile drying process ignited an oily substance within a waste recovery unit, causing the flames to shoot through the manufactuing area. The sprinkler system immediately went into operation and prevented the spread of the flames.

Firemen extinguished the blaze within 20 minutes and spent an additional hour and 45 minutes in cleanup.

Man dies of own gun wound

Anthony Paras, 27, of 209 E. Deodar St., Ontario, died early this morning of what Ontario police said was a self-inflicted gunshot wound of the abdomen.

Mr. Paras, according to police, was despondent and told his wife about 1:15 a.m. he was going to shoot himself. A moment later Mr. Paras placed the barrel of a revolver on his stomach and pulled the trigger. Police said the bullet passed through his body and grazed his wife, Margaret Paras, 27.

Paras was pronounced dead on arrival at Ontario Community Hospital minutes after the shooting.

Bike rider, 78, hurt in traffic collision

A traffic collision involving two bicycles and an automobile early Thursday afternoon in Pomona resulted in minor injury to a 78-year-old bike rider.

The mishap occurred in Holt Avenue west of Garey Avenue. Police said bicyclist Raymond L. Hudak, 22, 190 Paloma Drive, Pomona, was riding on the wrong side of the street and collided head on with William Kahle, 78, 3285 Riverside Drive, Chino, who was also on a bike.

When Kahle swerved after the collision he was sideswiped by a car driven by Michael J. Smith, 17, 23653 Sunset Crossing, Diamond Bar. Both bicyclists fell. Kahle said he would see a doctor later for treatment of his injuries.

Attic fire results in $4,300 damage

An attic fire at 400 W. Second St. in San Dimas Thursday night resulted in an estimated $4,300 damage to the two-story frame building, County Fire Capt. Dave Lemm said today.

The resident, Francia A. Denton, 20, said fire was detected beneath the rafters shortly after 10:30. Firemen said that when they arrived they found the roof burning briskly.

Investigation later indicated that the blaze resulted from a short-circuit in an electrical heater which was against a bathroom wall.

Sen. Ayala proposes regulation changes

Adoption loophole, finance charges, TV sales

State Sen. Ruben Ayala, D-32nd Dist., is preparing a series of bills that would affect the state's adoption laws, require manufacturers to include schematic drawings on radio and television sets, and restrict finance charges on customer accounts.

And the Chino legislator announced he is introducing legislation that would provide a $4.1 million state loan to the Fontana School District for construction of an occupational and vocational center.

Ayala seeks to fill a loophole in the existing adoption law. His proposal would require the state to notify the grandparents of children whose parents are deceased before adoptions are filed.

Ayala said his proposal resulted from a tragedy on Christmas 1973, when a San Bernardino couple was killed in a traffic accident in Texas. "The couple's two children were placed in a foster home and before the grandparents could obtain custody, adoption papers with another couple had been filed."

On his second bill, Ayala seeks to require manufacturers of television sets, radios, phonographs and tape recorders to include schematic circuit designs with shadow graphs with each unit sold.

Inclusion of these would enable repairs to be made in less time and at less expense, he added.

Ayala said he was asked to introduce such a bill by J. Romo, legislative chairman for the Pomona Valley Chapter of the California Electronic Association. Romo, operator of a television repair shop in Pomona, estimated the cost of including these drawings would amount to about three cents each.

Ayala said he also seeks legislation requiring payments made on charge accounts the first 10 days of a billing cycle be deducted from the outstanding balance in determining the service charge. In some cases, he added, the companies are using interest on money already paid.

Regarding the Fontana occupational and vocational center, Ayala said the district would be required to repay this over a 20-year period.

"We need this type of center to provide skills to students who drop out of high school or don't plan to continue in college," he said.

School officials said they hope to start construction next year and open the center in September, 1977.

It will be capable of holding 400 day students and 400 evening students, they added.

Opinion

Energy policy is imperative

The basic law of ecology is that "everything is hooked to everything else." Nothing happens in isolation. There is no "away" where you can throw things, for a disturbance of the environment in one place has effects in every other place.

It may be a basic law in human affairs, as well, not least in the field of economics, which is proper, since both ecology and economy are traced to the same Greek root meaning "house." A disturbance of the economy in one place has effects in every other place.

The chorus of complaints about the nation's lack of any comprehensive energy policy and demands that President Ford come up with one tend to overlook the operation of this "law." But consider:

—Should heavy additional taxes be levied on gasoline to discourage driving and cut consumption, while adversely affecting an already depressed auto industry, not to mention tourism, which 46 of the 50 states rank as one of their three major industries?

—Should full development of America's energy resources be encouraged, or should we import as much higher-priced foreign oil as possible, husbanding our own energy resources for the future?

—Should North Dakota permit surface mining of coal to provide secure energy to the East Coast, particularly in view of easterners' resistance to refineries and petroleum exploration in their areas?

—Should Louisiana be forced to ship its natural gas to the North to keep factories running in New Jersey if it means loss of industry and jobs in Louisiana?

These provocative questions, put forth in a recent edition of Continental Oil Co.'s "Conoco '74" magazine, underscore the dilemma confronting the President, his advisors and the new Congress as they move toward the formulation of a useful and useable energy policy for this country.

There are any number of conflicts, both in society and within the government, that must be reconciled if that goal is to be achieved. for example, there are currently more than 60 federal agencies having some responsibility for oil and gas matters.

With so many groups involved, coordination is difficult, there is an absence of common purpose and duplication and interference are frequent.

Without an overall energy policy, there are no guidelines and nobody has the responsibility for assuring that the various objectives and programs mesh or that "trade-offs" — despoiled landscapes in the West for humming generators in the East, say — are properly evaluated and resolved.

Everyone can agree that a national energy policy is an imperative need that must be met before the new year is many more weeks old. But because "everything is hooked to everything else," whatever the provisions of the policy, we can be sure they will have repercussions not altogether pleasing to all Americans in all the states.

No success like failure

Deaths from overdoses of methadone, the man-made narcotic introduced to wean addicts from heroin, for the first time have exceeded deaths from heroin, reports Security World magazine.

According to Dr. Dominick DiMaio, acting chief medical examiner in New York City, while the total number of drug-related deaths there dropped for the first time in a decade, there were 181 deaths directly attributable to methadone last year and 98 deaths due directly to heroin.

Only 10 of those who died of methadone poisoning, however were enrolled in methadone clinics. According to Dr. Robert Newman, head of New York City's methadone program, stringent new federal regulations limiting the length of time an addict can be given methadone in a clinic have driven many of them back into the streets for their methadone, increasing the likelihood of overdose.

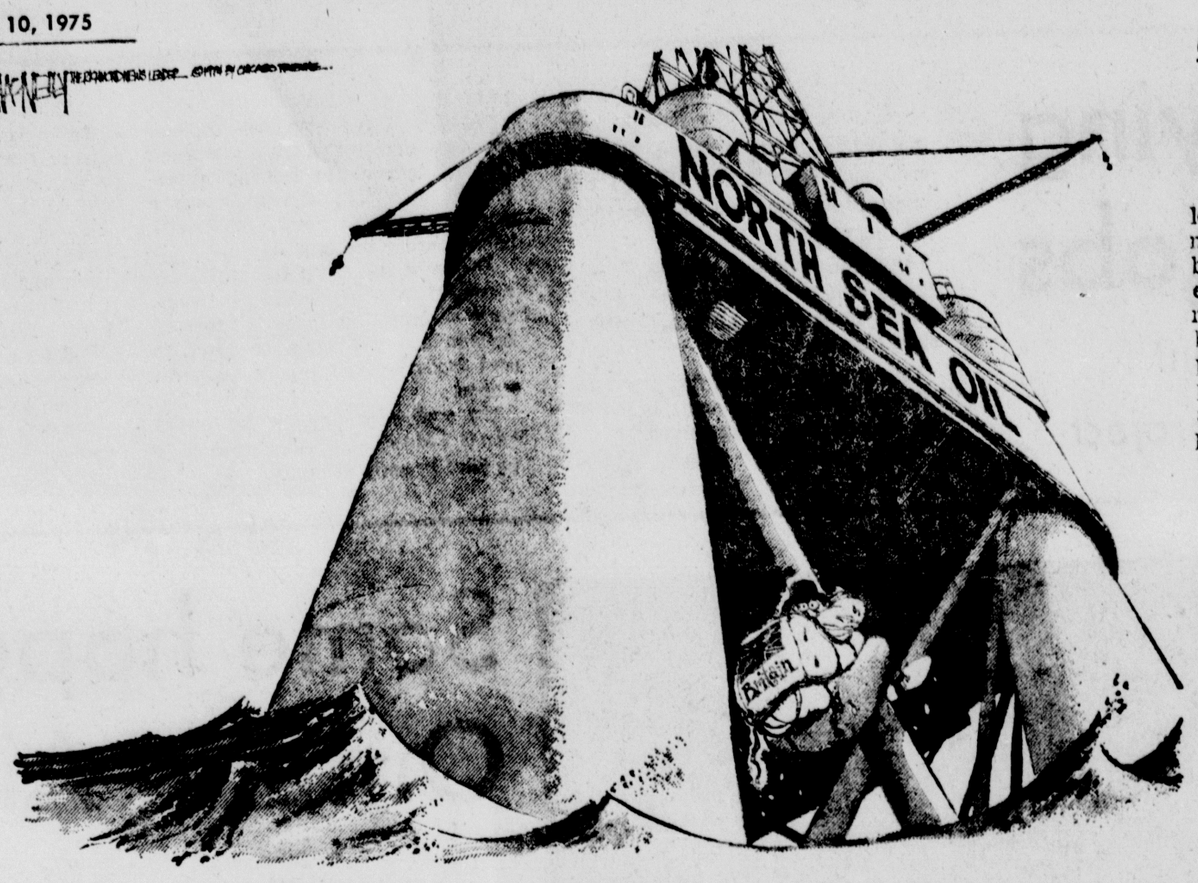

An accounting of accountants

Despite recession and increasing unemployment, the demand for accounting graduates is n the rise. So reports the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

Each spring, the national professional society issues findings of an annual survey of job opportunities for accounting graduates. Figures received so far from accounting firms estimating their 1975 demands for recruits show a rise of from 6 to 10 per cent.

Must be that they need more people to handle all the red-ink figures that are plaguing the economy.

Reader says gold a good investment

Newspapers are now playing down the importance of gold buying by writing that gold pays no interest, it is hard to store, awkward to resell and the price must go up 15 per cent per year for a profit.

In answer to such misleading facts may I say that in 1968 they were saying the same things about gold when it was $40 per ounce. Now it is $200 per ounce. If you had invested $40 in a savings account in 1968 at 5 per cent interest, you would have a balance of about $60 now. (Now which was the better investment—the gold or the interest?)

Is gold hard to store? No. It can be easily buried in the ground which is much safer than bank deposit boxes or accounts which can be raided by crooked government agents.

Hard to resell? So you pay a 5 per cent commission fee. Isn't $190 of gold value better than $60 in phony federal reserve notes in phony federal reserve banks?

It's very simple why paper money will become less and less valuable to the point of worthlessness and gold and silver will become more and more valuable.

Government is inflating the paper money. They are printing more and more paper notes to hire more and more government workers and consequently the private working force produces less goods and services and so prices rise, demand goes down, unemployment increases and government prints more money (paper) and repeats the silly cycle.

The depression of '29 was caused by some corporations watering their stocks (printing up paper stock to sell at market prices).

Today our government is repeating the same act—watering the paper money and infecting the whole economy.

A word to the wise. Your only protection against the coming financial catastrophe is gold or silver—coins or bullion-in your own possession. Only fools will leave their hard earned savings in banks and other paper money investments.

Inflation is now beginning to simmer and when it starts to boil only gold or silver will protect your security.

CIA spied on few Americans

WASHINGTON — The Central Intelligence Agency's secret files on American citizens, according to sources who have had access to them, show no evidence of widespread domestic surveillance by the CIA.

Our sources confirm The New York Times report that the CIA has the names of at least 10,000 American citizens in its files. But most of the names were furnished by domestic agencies as part of an intelligence exchange that was established after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The largest batch of names—a computerized printout listing 9,000 antiwar agitators, new leftists and ghetto militants—was turned over to the CIA in 1969 by the Justice Department's civil disturbance unit.

The unit chief, James Devine, arranged to deliver the names to the CIA's antiterrorist expert, Richard Ober, who had made a study of radical movements overseas.

From the 9,000 names, the CIA picked out those who had received training or had participated in demonstrations overseas. This information was relayed back to the Justice Department for its guidance in dealing with domestic demonstrations.

The CIA prepared reports, for example, on Black Panthers who had received guerrilla training in Libya and demolition instruction in North Korea. The CIA also identified Arab students in America who had alleged ties with the Palestine Liberation Organization.

But only rarely, the files show, did the CIA keep these individuals under surveillance in the United States. Sometimes, the CIA would tail a suspect to the United States and continue the surveillance for a few days until the watch could be turned over to the FBI. But few Americans have been spied upon by the CIA at home, our sources swear.

"The CIA simply doesn't have the manpower to keep 10,000 Americans under surveillance," said one course.

We also checked various law enforcement agencies to find out what kind of information they had received from the CIA about American citizens. The word from each agency was that CIA messages invariably contain a legitimate overseas angle.

Declared one official emphatically: "There is no program, no project, no policy set up to permit the CIA to conduct surveillance of citizens in the United States."

At the same time, our sources acknowledge there were several "gray areas," where the CIA, has crossed into domestic operations. The CIA, for example, may develop informants, defectors and double agents overseas who refuse to deal with anyone else after their arrival in the United States.

The CIA also gets involved in international counterintelligence, which has no geographical boundaries. It sometimes becomes necessary for the CIA to continue following a lead or checking a suspect in the United States. The CIA also has been brought into the intelligence operations against foreign embassies and consulates in the United States.

Nor is it any secret that the CIA keeps track of both pro-Castro and anti-Castro Cuban nationals in this country, as part of its watch on Cuba. And the law gives the CIA authority to handle its own security, including background checks on American citizens.

The CIA files, of course, contain derogatory information about wholly innocent citizens. For years, we have reported how government agencies traffic in dossiers which are loaded with idle gossip about American citizens. As far back as Nov. 20, 1972, we reported that the CIA was involved in this exchange.

We quoted from one CIA memo, which offered the latest gossip on Eartha Kitt's sex life in Paris. This information was provided to the Secret Service, which had started an investigation of the entertainer after she had embarrassed Lady Bird Johnson by asking a pointed question about the Vietnam War at a Jan. 18, 1968, White House luncheon.

Quite obviously, neither the CIA nor the Secret Service has any business prying into Eartha Kitt's private life.

The exchange of derogatory information between agencies increased after the Warren Commission, investigating President Kennedy's assassination complained about the lack of collaboration.

Henry Kissinger without cheers

For a University of Alabama alumnus it was a New Year's Day like all New Year's Days: from this point on, the news for the rest of 1975 has nowhere to go but up.

Yet, as I watched the victorious Notre Dame team carry Ccach Ara Parseghian off that Orange Bowl field, my errant thoughts somehow turned to the question of Henry Kissinger's future in the job he now holds.

If you believe that, of course, you'll believe anything. Nevertheless, looking to the coming year, there is something to be said for recommending that our Secretary of State follow the shrewd example set by the outgoing Notre Dame coach. Kissinger should quit while he's still ahead of the game.

Parseghian resigned, as he explained, because the pressure of the Notre Dame job became too great. Translated from football coaching euphemism, that meant that no matter how well a Fighting Irish coach does, his constituency still wants to know what miracles he's planning for next season.

So it is at another level of miracle-making. A Secretary of State who has never been shy about accepting the plaudits of the multitudes for having brought off foreign policy "victories" would do well to anticipate the day when the kissing has to stop.

No Secretary of State in American history, including Thomas Jefferson, has ever succeeded in gaining the contemporary popular acceptance for his policies that the incumbent enjoys. Indeed, in this century, the job has been the graveyard of reputations of men who came to it with bigger names than Henry Kissinger.

Call the roll of those bloodied in the battles of Foggy Bottom. Can anyone imagine a national news magazine labeling Dean Acheson "Super A" for his not inconsiderable achievement in creating NATO? Or John Foster Dulles "Super D" for helping Eisenhower end the Korean war?

But Henry Kissinger, we've been led to believe over the past five years—even before he actually held the title of Secretary of State—is "Super K," a foreign minister for the ages. Even as the shadow of Rockne hovered over Ara Parseghian, so have comparisons with Metternich, the Rockne of diplomacy, spurred Henry on.

He was the miracle-worker who (with some small assist from Richard Nixon) brought American fighting men home from Southeast Asia "with honor." He was the architect of Soviet detente, the master negotiator who melted the ice between this country and Mao's China. And who but Kissinger, for an encore, could have tranquilized the Middle East, even while reestablishing U.S. influence among the Arab countries.

Yet that was last year. It is likely that the due dates on many, if not all, of Kissinger's "miracle" notes will fall sometime during the 12 months ahead. In Southeast Asia, the military position of our South Vietnamese allies deteriorates. In the Middle East, the truce which "Super K" wrought in the months following the Yom Kippur War is coming apart.

True, according to the Gallup Poll, Kissinger was rated America's "most admired" man in 1974, for the second consecutive year. Number One, that is—ahead of his current boss, Gerald Ford, his former boss, Nixon, and his chief domestic critic, Sen. Henry Jackson.

But such public opinion polls are as transitory as No. 1 ratings in Ara Parseghian's league. "Super K," if he is still Secretary of State a year from now may find that out the hard way. For the suspicion grows that even if Henry Kissinger's influence directing American foreign policy is stronger today than ever before, the bloom is off the rose—if not the Rose Garden—regarding his promised diplomatic "miracles."

Just in jest

I predict the time will come when there will no longer be employers in the land to provide employment for those who must work to exist. The reason being that employers will ultimately decide their efforts just aren't worth the wear and tear on their nervous systems. And I, for one, certainly can't blame them. It was frustrating enough to have employes going on strike because they didn't like the pay and working conditions; but now one group of striking employes has also filed an unfair labor practice complaint with the National Labor Relations Board because the employer against whom they were striking hadn't invited them to the company's Christmas party.

Baloney dominates food price hearings

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Congressional hearings on high food prices are a sham, little more than a publicity stunt. At least six have been carried out with fanfare these past two years — by the House Agriculture Committee in October 1974; the Senate Select Committee on Small Business in December 1974; the Senate Select Committee on Small Business in December 1973; the House Judiciary Committee in June and July 1973; the Joint Economic Committee, twice in April 1973 and once in December, 1974.

All have come to naught, for one simple reason: The data does not exist to determine which supermarkets and other retailers are overcharging, or if any are. There is no concrete information on whether markups are too great at one or more of the stages in the movement of food from farm to consumer. Are profits exorbitant? Is inefficiency the problem?

We do not have either the necessary statistical data on the effects of competition or of semimonopolies on food prices.

In 84 of 158 metropolitan areas analyzed by the Census Bureau, the four largest grocery retailers control 50 per cent or more of the market. In the absence of relevant research, no one knows whether this concentration of business has tended to keep prices up or hold them down. There are theories, colored by which side of the fence the expert works. There have been no thorough, impartially researched studies.

With these facts in mind, the test of congressional sincerity is simple. If the senators and congressmen involved had really wanted to achieve results for the consumer, they would have written legislation ordering that the requisite data be collected regularly and that there be sustained research on food prices. Two years have passed since this assortment of hearings began. But, so far as can be determined, no serious bills on the subject have been introduced.

Eight years ago, the National Commission on Food Marketing asked Congress to charge the Federal Trade Commission with a continuing study of structure and competition in the food industries. The Senate and House ignored that recommendation. They continue to ignore it to this day.

"By any reasonable measure," one witness before the Joint Economic Committee of Congress complained, "a country which is into a second year of double-digit food price inflation, should be well aware of how food prices are determined, and of what profits are being made and by whom at each step in the food production and distribution chain. And it should be reaching social, political and economic solutions from that information base instead of still groping for the basic information."

If Congress runs true to form, this absence of data will not prevent the Joint Economic Committee from coming up with a detailed analysis of what is wrong with food prices, supermarkets, the middlemen and anyone else involved.

Typical is the case of a 152-page volume on price stability recently issued by this same body. Rep. Clarence Brown, (D-Ohio) expressed the view of many of us when he remarked:

"I realize there has been considerable time pressure . . . Nonetheless, with a report as lengthy and as heavily laden with recommendations, some of them quite controversial, a period of less than one week is hardly adequate time for the committee members to review the report, confer with one another and reach conclusions regarding it in a reasoned and deliberate manner."

We are getting propaganda, not facts.

Owner of dead dog aims a barb at wrong target

We had a tragic experience with the Humane Society of Pomona Valley.

Our dog, a loved member of our family for eight years, got out of the yard.

She was a female tan and white mixed Terrier with a chain collar and license. I called the Humane Society to report her missing and was told if she was licensed she would be returned.

Our next door neighbor told us three days later that a friend of his had hit a dog the night ours disappeared.

I called the Humane Society again and was told I would have to go down and look through the "dead on arrival" sheets.

I found a description of the dog which was hit: brown and white mixed terrier, sex not known, wearing collar.

This description could be one of any number of dogs.

Upon further inquiry I was again assured that if my dog was licensed I would be notified.

Three more days of calling, looking and hoping followed. My neighbor called again, this time to say that after his friend hit the dog he noticed the license number and notified the Humane Society.

He will never forget that number and neither will we. It belonged to our dog.

I called the Humane Society to find out why we were not notified.

The answer given was: "We will check into that and get back to you." That was two weeks ago.

Our dog is gone. Nothing will change that. Our only hope is that she was the exception and not the rule. — Mrs. D.M., Claremont.

Your dog was killed in unincorporated Los Angeles County territory nine blocks from your house and was picked up by county employes instead of the Humane Society.

Bruce Richards, executive secretary, said the Humane Society did receive a call that the dog had been killed.

As the society's records showed you were the owner, a staff member tried to call you but your phone was no longer in service.

Richards reported that neighter the terrier which was killed, nor another dog owned by you was licensed for the current year.

He expressed regret that your pet had been killed.

ANN LANDERS

Husband who's getting ahead with his social life should get new head

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The firm my husband works for has done some transferring and promoting. Eight months ago he got a new boss. (I'll call him Mr. X.)

Since Mr. X has come into our lives I feel our marriage is falling apart. He is a selfish, rather sadistic bachelor and I disliked him from the moment we met. Mr. X has invited my husband to accompany him on out-of-town trips, fixed him up with "dates," and I find myself alone at least three evenings a week because my husband has to "work late." Last weekend our children went to the circus with neighbors because their dad was "summoned" to play golf and spend the day with Mr. X at his club.

I am not a clinging vine or a nagging wife. I am just a normal woman who feels as if something is going haywire in her marriage. My husband insists I am narrow-minded and if I want him to get ahead, I have to put up with some "inconvenience," as he puts it. What do you say? —Out side Looking In

Dear Out: I certainly hope your husband gets ahead. He can use one—with some brains in it. Or better yet, he needs some starch in his spine, so he can say no thanks to Mr. X's invitations unless he actually enjoys his newfound swinging disguised as "work." If the latter is true, I suggest you get a counselor into the act—or go alone if your husband refuses. You are bound to learn something.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A few months ago I was visiting relatives in Canada. My uncle drove me to the train station. When I told him his voice sounded verv raspy, he said, "I should get out of this night air." A few minutes later he confided that he had cancer of the throat but asked that I not tell anyone.

Two months later I received a phone call from my aunt informing me that my dear uncle had shot himself to death. He left no note of explanation and no one knew about his illness.

His business was in perfect order. He had money in the bank. All his debts were paid and his wife will benefit from a very nice insurance policy.

Had my uncle spent his money on hospitals and doctors he would have impoverished his family and suffered a great deal of physical agony. The way I see it, Uncle was a wise man. I admire his manhood and respect his sense of values. What do you say? —Proud Nephew

Dear Nephew: I say two things. First: Your story sounds a little fishy. It's a rare insurance policy that pays off on suicide. Second: Cancer of the throat is not always fatal. When discovered early the patient has a chance of surviving — as many former throat cancer victims will testify. So, perhaps, Uncle wasn't as wise as you think.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My 82-year-old grandmother is visiting and we enjoy her immensely.

I've believed since childhood that Granny knows best. Her folk medicine seems to work better than the most expensive prescriptions. But—when our 5-year-old burned her hand on a hot pan last night Granny quickly smeared butter on it and then sprinkled on a little salt. I read somewhere that the best way to treat a burn is to put ice on it. Who is right? —Fran

Dear Fran: You are. Ice should be applied to burns immediately. Butter is the sure way to raise a blister.

It's not always easy to recognize love, especially the first time around. Acquaint yourself with the guidelines. Read Ann Landers's booklet, "Love or Sex and How To Tell the Difference." For a copy, mail 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

Cleopatra dies after this message . . .

By JOSEPH H. FIRMAN

A long-time Shakespeare buff, I was delighted to settle down in front of the tube the other night to watch ABC's three-hour presentation of "The Tragedy of Antony and Cleopatra." I was less delighted as the film unreeled, punctuated with more commercials than Cleopatra was with asp stings.

To get us in the proper mood for the pageant of violence that left bodies strewn around the ice like a Philadelphia Flyers' hockey game, the network first offered us a dramatic advertisement for some glue to keep false teeth in place, followed by a commercial for a car, then one for a chewing gum that promised to keep us from having false teeth in the second place. The ads for a camera company and a hair shampoo were barely done before here were Demetrius and Philo lamenting Antony's infatuation with the queen of Egypt ("His captain's heart . . . is become the bellows and the fan to cool a gypsy's lust.")

Some 10 stirring moments passed and we were jerked back abruptly from ancient Rome to underarm deodorants, a cat jumping out of a cash register, and a sexy brunette crooning amorously to a bottle of bath tonic. I thought I was watching "A Comedy of Errors." In quick succession came commercials for a movie, ABC theater, and the latest shooting in Los Angeles. Age cannot wither nor custom stale the infinite variety of television commercials.

A few battles later we were once again being entreated to buy a year's supply of face cream, room spray and cough syrup. A cute pug-nosed girl hymned the virtues of a kitchen soap, and a tired old Santa Claus left over from Christmas gulped cottage cheese.

And so it went through the "three-hour presentation," two of which seemed devoted to emptying my pockets for cat food and new cars. By the time the Parthians had defeated the Roman legions, I had yawned through commercials for a department store, a hair oil and coffee filters. There were scenes of a lady in bed and of people cooking things, and an announcement of the latest Los Angeles shooting.

By now I had forgotten the name of the play and mistakenly thinking I was watching "Macbeth," anxiously awaited Macduff and Birnam Wood. When Caesar landed at Alexandria, a nasty little girl rolled a football across the rug and a nasty little announcer chanted about chewing gum. Then there was a voluptuous young housewife in ecstasy over her new mop, a savings and loan company, new cars, Medicare, the Saturday night movie, some seagulls, and a man with an obviously terminal case of pneumonia miraculously curing himself over a vapor kettle. Plus the news: the latest you-know-what in you-know-where.

"The Tragedy of Antony and Cleopatra" is that we had to watch it on television.

THE DOCTOR COMMENTS

Mates often sabotage diet efforts

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Your column on dieting and fad diets was timely for me. I've lost 17 pounds since June, eating less and no snacks. However, I stopped eating breafast and lunch, as I don't have a cooperative husband. He thinks I don't eat enough, so when he's home I'm compelled to eat to keep peace on weekends. It's disheartening to get on the scales Monday morning.

I've experienced dizzy spells as you described. Also I'm awakened early with a charley horse in my leg. Is this coincidence? Could I lose easier just eating vegetables? I'm 62 and gained 20 pounds since I quit working a few years ago. I need to lose 25 pounds more.

Dear Reader — I usually think a person who needs to lose 20 pounds or more should have medical supervision. Sometimes people are overweight for medical reasons, but I must admit it is usually from eating too much of the wrong foods.

You are not unusual in having a mate who sabotages your diet efforts. Many men do not really want their wives to lose weight. Psychologists offer all sorts of reasons for this, some on target and others that cause me to raise an eyebrow. One theory is that some men think that if the wife loses weight she will be more attractive to other men. Another idea is that if she looks young and attractive she may be more demanding and may tax his ability to keep up. Of course, if he is overweight himself it can be quite a threat.

This works both ways. A wife may not really want her husband to lose weight. I have repeatedly seen wives who would not help their husbands with a diet even after he had a medical problem with heart disease or high blood pressure. She doesn't want to change her way of cooking or food preparation. The doctor is usually more successful if he talks about diets to both the husband and the wife. Unfortunately those conversations, when they do occur, are usually after the man has survived a heart attack and is on his way home from the hospital. It would be much better if it happened before the heart attack.

Now you know what I think about fad diets, so you shouldn't ask about going on an all-vegetable diet. What you need is a slow, sensible plan of a well-balanced diet. You need some protein in your diet, plus vegetables.

Those dizzy spells usually mean loss of water and salt from an improper diet or even starvation. Try to eat a small amount three times a day.

You can keep your husband happy by preparing low calorie dishes. Then he won't notice you don't eat so much. Low-fat cooking does a lot to decrease calories in your diet and really helps in weight control problems.

Loss of excess salt and other minerals often cause the muscles to have a tendency to cramp. That cramp in your calf muscle can well be from loss of too much salt.

If you lose weight gradually enough with a sensible diet program your husband won't notice it so much. Don't forget to use sensible exercise as part of your diet plan.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of The Progress-Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on losing weight, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for the "Losing Weight" booklet.

New kissing game becming popular

Our Love and War man reports a new kissing game is gaining popularity among the young. Couples sit around in a ring on a rug in a dark room. A flashlight is spun in the center of the ring. If it comes to a stop so as to light up any couple not kissing, that pair is ejected from the game. What the last two kissers win as winners I do not know. Will check further.

TURTLE

This character who worked in a pet shop delighted his landlady one Christmas when he gave her a little turtle. Next day he secretly replaced it with a slightly larger turtle. And still another even larger turtle the day after. He kept it up for about three weeks. Until the last ringer was the shop's biggest turtle. The landlady was enthralled, saying she had no idea the little beasts grew so rapidly. Then, however, the character reversed the process. Each day the turtle seemed to get littler. The landlady grieved, stayed up nights with it, sought out the experts in a vain search for a medicinal turtle formula. And she cried a lot, quietly. The foregoing is fact, not fiction. But I don't know how it all ended. Would you please write a finishing sentence for the story?

A polecat is a weasel-like animal that is closely related to the North American skunk. Polecats make their home in most parts of Europe and Asia.

The common polecat may grow to be almost two feet long. Its dark fur is long and loose.

The polecat lives in a burrow and hunts for its food at night. It eats rats, snakes, rabbits, and any other small animal it can catch — especially poultry.

In fact, the "pole" in the polecat's name probably comes from the French word "poule," meaning "a hen," because of its fondness for chickens and other poultry. The polecat is unusually bloodthirsty and will often kill much more than it can eat in one meal.

Like the skunk, it is equipped with special scent glands under the tail which emit a foul-smelling fluid when the polecat is alarmed.

In the United States, the skunk is sometimes wrongly called a polecat.

Here's wonderful news! A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

Boy, 13, crushed by flood gate

INDIO (UPI) — A 13-year-old boy was crushed to death Wednesday when a 1,000 pound flood gate on the White Water storm channel closed on him.

Authorities said Charles Salter propped open the gate with a stick while playing with friends. The stick either slipped or broke allowing the gate to slam shut.

PFM

Italian group digs rock

By BRUCE MEYER

The highly touted "international trend" in rock music has, for the most part, remained limited to the United States, Britain and Northern Europe, especially Holland and Germany. Very little has been heard from the southern reaches of the Continent.

The reasons for this are complex: cultural, economic, political, but recently there has been some breaking of the ice. The result is PFM —an established Italian group and perhaps the most impressive new "progressive" rock band since Emerson, Lake and Palmer's first album.

All five members of PFM grew up with opera and other forms of classical music. But unlike most other classically trained rock musicians, they have successfully fused the romanticism and complexity of their roots with the basic power of rock.

Rock Violin

Certainly the most outstanding member of PFM is violinist Mauro Pagani; he is the first violinist in memory that transforms the instrument into a genuine rock force without straining the credibility of the listener. Pagani plays as if the devil himself were on the other end of the bow.

Drummer Franz Di Cioccio is another standout, lightning fast, technically flawless and one of the few drummers around who can make a genuine show out of a solo. Keyboards man Flavio Premio certainly deserves something —the Myron Floren Memorial Squeezebox Award, perhaps —for introducing the (electrified) accordian as a rock instrument.

PFM's new U.S. release, their second, is "Cook" (Manticore MA6-502S1), a live album recorded last year in Toronto and New York. It is a measure of PFM's instrumental prowess that this live LP comes off better than most recent progressive studio efforts, though it must be admitted that the vocals suffer a bit for lack of overdubbing.

But the singing has always been the least important aspect of progressive rock as it leans more and more heavily toward jazz —and instrumentally PFM may be the best progressive band ever.

If they keep making albums like "Cook," their future is assured.

As long as there are some of us who still like to dance, there will be a place for stops-out boogie. And that means Foghat.

Formed about three years ago by three Savoy Brown alumni, Foghat has become synonymous with the kind of music that produces dancing in the aisles at concerts and exhaustion at parties.

Though not in the same superstar league as their more esoteric British cousins like Yes or ELP, Foghat and the other top boogie bands maintain a steady popularity. For them, rock 'n' roll has changed little in the past 20 years; better sound systems, perhaps, and flashier instrumental technique, but the music remains.

Foghat's new album —their fourth —is "Rock and Roll Outlaws" (Bearsville BR-6956), and very little different from previous LPs except in detail. For the most part it's straightforward boogie with a minimum of diddling about, designed to be played as loud as your neighbors (or parents, or roommates, or ears) will let you.

Everyone ought to have at least one Foghat album. They're great for cleaning the cobwebs out of your head.

Campaign fund of Sen. Jackson at $1.1 million

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — The campaign funds for Sen. Henry Jackson's as yet unannounced bid for the Democratic presidential nomination have hit $1.1 million.

"It's most encouraging," said Richard Kline, finance coordinator for the Jackson Planning Committee, which was created last July to raise money and make preliminary campaign plans.

Kline said $1.1 million has been raised from 38 states through "fund-raisers and receptions and a 5,000-name mailing to key 1972 supporters of Sens. Ed Muskie, Hubert Humphrey, George McGovern and Jackson."

The planning committee, with headquarters in Washington, D.C., has spent $210,128 of the campaign money.

Kline said the funds will be used to finance a major direct-mail appeal for donations from small contributors and for political organization work in various states.

VCT workshop to resume instruction

The Education Workshop of Valley Community Theater, 132 E. Third St., Pomona, will resume instruction at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Ed Abry will give classes in acting and directing. Enrollment is free.

Abry, a member of Screen Actor's Guild and Actor's Equity Association, has been a member of the Board of Directors of VCT and has been featured in its productions of "Lion in Winter" and "Butterflies Are Free." He directed "Rope" for the 1972-73 season. Currently he is a professional actor in Hollywood, after having taught dramatic arts at Michigan State University, Port Jefferson High School N.Y., and Baldwin Park High School.

Abry has studied at Michigan State University, Lee Strasberg's UCLA Theater Seminar and Lee Strasberg Theater Institute, Los Angeles. His stage, screen, and directoral credits are extensive.

The workshop which began in September is a new program sponsored by VCT in affiliation with the Pomona Unified School District's Adult Education Division and the National Endowment for the Arts. All fees have been waived by the district. Previous sections have focused on acting with subsequent sessions to be devoted to technical theater.

'Godspell'

CLO sets auditions for musical hit

The San Bernardino Civic Light Opera will hold auditions for the Broadway musical hit, "Godspell," at Arrowview Junior High School, Highland Avenue and G Street, San Bernardino, from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Those auditioning are asked to bring their own music. The CLO will provide an accompanist.

"Godspell" drew standing room only audiences for three years in New York, and played in London and other cities throughout the United States. It will be presented at the California Theater of Performing Arts in San Bernardino for a limited engagement, opening Feb. 14.

The musical score of "Godspell" includes such hits as "Day By Day," "Light of the World" and "Turn Back, O Man."

Director-choreographer Jack Bunch will direct the production.

Expensive chorus line

Mitzi corners male stars

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Thirty movie-television leading men and comedians got together the other day to help provide the most expensive chorus line extant for Mitzi Gaynor's special "Mitzi and 100 Guys."

It was an old maid's dream come true.

The CBS rehearsal stage was brimming with famous faces all wearing sweatshirts emblazoned with Mitzi's likeness.

Between drinks from the bar, all 30 stars lined up in three tiers to have their photograph taken, en masse, with Mitzi in the middle.

Bob Hope was the cheerleader: "I never knew you could have this much fun with fellas," he quipped when the photographers asked the crowd to get closer to one another.

"Hooray for Gay Lib" cried Monty Hall.

Ed Asner and Ted Knight of "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" stood next to one another. "We don't do any of this weird stuff on our series," Asner said, his hand placed effeminately on his hip.

Telly Savalas and Marty Allen posed together as photographers snapped away as the man with the least hair and the man with the most exchanged gags.

Hope looked around at the milling stars and said, "Marlon Brando was supposed to be here but he's out giving away the rest of California to the Indians. Brando is a real Indian-giver."

Mike Connors gave Mitzi a big kiss while Chris George, Bob Crane, Steve Allen, Jack Albertson, Dean Jones and Donald O'Connor cheered him on.

Peter Marshall, host of "The Hollywood Squares," was ready to sing and dance, better equipped to do so than most now that he has his own nightclub act.

"Let's have some big smiles," the photographer yelled from the top of a ladder. He was promptly shouted down.

Dan Rowan wondered aloud, "Do you think they're going through all this trouble just to get a close-up of me?"

"This stage looks like a live Hollywood Wax Museum," Hope said, surveying the action.

Michael Evans, the black actor who plays Lionel in the "All In The Family" series, walked among his peers with a tray taking orders for drinks from the bar.

James Farentino, Greg Morris, Strother Martin, Ken Berry and Bill Bixby were quiet members of the troupe, and broke up when Hope was asked to hold Mitzi's leg in one of the shots.

"My golf bag doesn't weigh this much," Hope complained. "You want my part? There's lots for everybody."

3 previews scheduled for 'All My Sons'

Low-priced previews of Arthur Miller's drama, "All My Sons," will be offered at the Huntington Hartford Theater in Hollwyood at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday and at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The play, starring Jack Klugman and Sada Thompson, opens Thursday night. The limited engagement continues through Feb. 9.

The David Lonn production of "One Flew over the Cuckoo's Nest" winds up its extended run at the theater with performances at 2:30 and 8:30 p.m. Sunday.

Wins $100,000 annually in paralysis suit

HOUSTON (UPI) — James Alexander, 18, who lost the use of his arms and legs from injuries suffered in a traffic accident on his 16th birthday, will receive $100,000 annually for the rest of his life as a settlement of a suit stemming from the accident.

The payments will be made from a trust fund established at a Houston bank by a group of insurance companies, Alexander's attorney, Joe Jamail, said Thursday.

He said Alexander's heir or heirs also will receive $1 million from the trust upon Alexander's death.

"This case would never have been disposed of in this way without the cooperation of the insurance companies, their lawyers and the bank," Jamail said.

Alexander, who lives at home with his parents, requires constant care.

Alexander was working as a plumber's helper and his supervisor was taking him on a fishing trip as a birthday present when the accident occurred. The supervisor and three others were killed.

1975 stalemate in Middle East, says astrologer

RAMLE, Israel (UPI) — Israel's best known astrologer says 1975 will be a year of Middle East military stalemate, with a confrontation in June and July but not necessarily a new war.

"It depends on whether we will be prepared and on the alert," astrologer Hans Zeuger told the Jerusalem Post. "The June-July confrontation will not only involve the countries in this area but Russia and the United States."

Zeuger, who lives at Tal Shahar, a cooperative settlement, predicted 1975 will be a "slow year" because of the dominance of the outer planets of Saturn, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto.

He said the current Middle East stalemate will continue and will heat up in June and July, when there will be threats of war and military activity.

Little big men help Garey, Ganesha

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

The little big men of the San Antonio League are hoping they can keep their teams unbeaten through the first week of SAL competition.

Garey High forward Delbert McDonald and Ganesha center Paul Whitmore go back to work tonight, as the two SAL clubs face underdog opponents in the second of 14 loop contests.

Garey, the No. 1 ranked team in Southern California's CIF 3-A cage division, will visit Montclair. Ganesha, the No. 8 ranked club in CIF 3-A, will battle Chino in the Frank Elder Gymnasium.

In other SAL action tonight, Damien hosts Claremont and Pomona visits Upland. All games are slated for 8 p.m. opening tipoffs.

Although McDonald and Whitmore may be considered big men on their own teams, they aren't necesarily towering.

McDonald, who was the valley prop Player of the Week two weeks ago, stands at 6-foot-5 while playing forward for the Vikings. Whitmore, the Player of the Week last week, is only 6-foot-3 as the Giants' center.

"Delbert has played for us for two years now," noted Garey head coach Mike Wells. "He was outstanding as a sophomore. He's small for being 6-5, so we play him both inside and outside. He can do many things for us, and is the guy who really motivates the team."

"Paul, in the last three games, has played outstanding ball," praised Ganesha skipper Gary Fulkerson of his star at last Tuesday afternoon's basketball luncheon. "He's our big man, and he really skies. He also anticipates real well.

"Against Glendale this year in the Alhambra Tournament, Paul had to go up against a 6-11 center," Fulkerson added. "The guy scored 26 points, but that didn't show how much Paul intimidated him underneath."

Whitmore is averaging 12 points per game this season, but what is even more impressive is that the Giants' post man has pumped in 61 points in his last three outings. He's the third leading scorer on the club behind guard Cleve Bell (15.7) and forward Donald Barnes (13.3).

McDonald leads the Garey club in the scoring department with his 17.9 average. He's followed by forward Gary Carpenter (13.3) and guard Kent Jordan (12.9).

After one game, Damien High's Mike Wetenkamp and Pomona High's Danny Wilson lead the SAL in scoring with 20 points each. Ganesha's Howard Love and Damien's John Pignotti are third and fourth with 19 points apiece.

Favored Walnut High will have its first tough test of the 1975 Hacienda League season tonight when it tangles with Alta Loma.

The Mustangs, ranked No. 4 in the CIF 2-A poll this week, will be going after its 16th consecutive Hacienda victory in the 8 p.m. contest at the Mustang gym.

In other Hacienda League play, Bonita hosts Ontario and San Dimas entertains Royal Oak. Those games are also scheduled for 8 p.m.

Surprising Robert Cox of Walnut leads the Hacienda after one outing with his 36 points. Ontario's Dan Pearce is second with 21 points, while Royal Oak's Scott Woodland and San Dimas' Bobby Childress are third and fourth with 20 markers each.

Charter Oak Nogales and Rowland will try to get into the win column after suffering tough opening round contests in the Montview League Wednesday night.

Charter Oak, favored to win the Montview title, hosts Rowland (a double-overtime loser Wednesday) tonight at 8 p.m. Nogales, which fell in one overtime in its opener, will entertain Baldwin Park at 8.

In other prep action tonight, Chaffey hosts heated rival Redlands in Citrus Belt League competition, La Verne Lutheran visits Notre Dame and Webb hosts Sherman Indian Institute in the Arrowhead League, Ontario Christian entertains Whittier Christian in the Olympic League, and Western Christian welcomes Ambassador in the Academy League.

Webb's contest against Sherman is scheduled for a 4:30 p.m. start, while the rest are slated for 8 p.m. tipoffs.

Steelers get bad news

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Steelers, making their final preparations for Sunday's Super Bowl IX game against the Minnesota Vikings, received some bad news today when it was learned that starting right defensive end Dwight White was readmitted to a hospital with a reoccurance of his viral infection.

White was first admitted to the hospital last Sunday night, but was released Thursday morning and arrived back at the Steelers' training quarters in time to attend the club meeting and practice session.

"There was a reoccurance of the pain in Dwight's chest area and there is a 75 per cent chance of his not being able to play Sunday," said National Football League spokesman Jim Heffernan. Heffernan disclosed that White had been readmitted to the hospital at 8:30 in the morning.

LOCAL - NATIONAL Sports

The Vikings, hoping to avenge the losses they suffered in their two previous Super Bowl appearances, went through their hardest workout of the week Thursday.

"Thursday's always our hardest day of the week for workouts even during the regular season," said Viking coach Bud Grant. "Everybody is taped up and wears pads and pants. We practice our blitz drills. If you're near the field you can hear the hitting but there's no tackling."

The only casualty from the 40-minute practice session was center Mick Tinglehoff who suffered a slightly sprained right ankle shortly after the workout began and sat out the remainder of the session. Tinglehoff had his ankle wrapped in ice by the team trainer as a precautionary measure.

In contrast to Tinglehoff, the news on Minnesota's other two ailing players, quartberack Fran Tarkenton and starting left tackle Charles Goodrum, was much better for Viking fans.

"Tarkenton threw for 25 minutes during Wednesday's workout and his sore right arm didn't seem any worse for having participated," Grant said. "I am confident he can perform his normal functions."

Goodrum pulled a leg muscle earlier in the week but his condition was upgraded by Grant from "doubtful" to "possible" for Sunday's game. "If he continues to improve at this rate, he probably could play and may even start," Grant said.

Thursday was the last day for the players to meet with the news media until after Sunday's game and the only thing on today's agenda was separate news conferences with each of the coaches and Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League.

Grant was critical of the two week period between the conference championship game and the Super Bowl, saying, "it doesn't take two weeks to prepare for a football game. The coaches need five days and the players only need three. However, I guess the hoopla and promotion for the game may take longer."

Noll, when asked if he would change anything this week, replied: "If it was up to me, we'd stay at home and do all our practicing there until the end of the week. But I can't change the schedule."

While the statements of Grant and Noll didn't figure to please NFL officials, those same officials couldn't have been more annoyed than they were at the conduct of Los Angeles Ram players Lance Rentzel and Fred Dryer.

Both showed up at Thursday's interview sessions with the Pittsburgh and Minnesota players and coaches in their roles as writers for a national sports magazine. They were dressed like newsmen of the 1920s, complete with Rentzel wearing a fedora with a fake press card in the brim and Dryer carrying an old fashioned box camera.

Several of the Vikings and Steelers, their patience worn thin by the various distractions of the past week, became upset with the turmoil caused by the antics of Rentzel and Dryer and several newsmen also objected to their clowning tactics.

"There's not much we can do about it," said Jim Kensil, executive director of the NFL. "They're accredited. But we will make it clear to the magazine's editors that news conferences are to report news, not to make news."

Baseball clubs draft 11 from Pomona area

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

A total of 11 valley baseball players were selected in Thursday's free agent draft.

Mt. San Antonio College and Citrus College each had three players drafted. Pitcher Larry Pekarcik (Cin.), shortstop Mike Parkinson (Det.), and outfielder Frank Marini (San Francisco) were the Mounties taken. A former Mountie, second baseman Dennis Lee, was also taken by the Giants.

Citrus players chosen were pitchers Eric Mustad (Det.) and Jim Ayers (S.F.) and first baseman Dennis Hostelter (S.F.).

Pitcher Vic Bernal of Cal Poly was a first-round selection of the Minnesota Twins.

Chaffey College star Dennis Hawkins was a Philadelphia selection. Former Chaffey third baseman Mike Gatlin, now at the University of Arizona was another Minnesota choice.

Andy Mason, formerly of Charter Oak High and now with Cal St. Los Angeles, was picked by the Texas Rangers.

Pekarcik, the Damien grad, made All-SAL first-team and All CIF second team before enrolling at MSAC. He was taken in the first round of the secondary phase by the Cincinnati Reds.

"I was drafted by the Kansas City Royals last year," acknowledged Pekarcik. "But I preferred going to school. I'd like to finish my first year at MSAC and play baseball this year before turning pro."

Pekarcik said he had discussed this with Cincinnati representatives before the draft and received an okay. He indicated he had advised all teams that contacted him of his desire to complete the semester and play ball at MSAC.

Bernal was the most surprised. "I can't believe it," he exclaimed. "It really caught me by surprise."

Bernal was only 3-9 with a 4.44 earned run average in 1974. But in 1973, as a sophomore, he posted an 8-6 mark with a 2.54 ERA.

"Vic did an outstanding job last fall in the fall baseball program," said coach John Scolinas. "We faced a team made up of Minnesota's Double A and Triple A players five times and he was just great. Scout Jesse Flores of the Twins was there everytime."

Scolinas said Bernal's trouble as a junior was that he lost his rhythm. "We just slowed down his rhythm and the speed of the ball became greater," Scolinas said. "Vic also began to change speeds and he developed a good curve ball."

Bernal said he would continue to practice with the Broncos until contacted by the Twins. "Then I'll just wait and see what happens," he said.

Hawkins, from Fontana, set a Chaffey College record by stealing bases successfully 47 of 50 times. He batted .373 in Mission Conference play.

Mustad posted a 7-3 record with a 2.73 ERA at Citrus. Hostelter, from Aacadia, and Ayers, from Claremont, are in their freshman years at Citrus.

Parkinson batted .270 for MSAC in 1974 and Marini, slated to be the regular left fielder this year, hit .385.

Lakers battle Celtics tonight

BOSTON (UPI) — All-Star guard Gail Goodrich doesn't feel the Los Angeles Lakers are a 17-23 club.

"We have good personnel and we're beginning to play smarter basketball," he said. "Besides, I'm not used to wearing the uniform of a last-place club."

The Lakers, who moved out of the cellar in the NBA's Pacific Division with a 106-98 victory at Philadelphia Wednesday night, face the Boston Celtics tonight and wind up a four-game road trip at Washington Saturday night.

UCLA appears on its way again

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — So this is the season the rest of the Pacific-8 was going to catch up to UCLA's Bruins.

The Bruins launched their bid for their ninth straight conference basketball title Thursday night and nothing was different, though.

They won convincingly.

With former Indiana high school hotshot Pete Trgovich getting a career high 18 points, UCLA was a 92-82 winner over Washington, the Bruins' 25th straight decision over the Huskies since 1963.

However, UCLA coach John Wooden didn't feel the Bruins were that impressive.

"We've been improving almost every week but I didn't think we showed the same improvement tonight," he said. "But I think much of the credit should go to Washington. They were very strong on the boards and they got good position on us."

Marv Harshman, who watched his 16th-ranked Huskies lose for the third time in a dozen starts, said, "I think we showed we have some people who can really play. All things being equal, I think we stayed with the Bruins very well.

"John Wooden has another outstanding ball club and I think they're going to be the team to beat in the conference race."

Andre McCarter, UCLA's talented junior guard from Philadelphia, said Washington had better talent than sixth-rated Maryland and Notre Dame, both Bruin victims this season.

"I'd say Washington has the best material of the three teams," McCarter said. "But we seem to play better against the better teams."

Trgovich, who averaged 8.0 points for the No. 2-rated Bruins in their first 10 wins this season, connected on 9 of 12 shots from the floor.

Dave Meyers, the Bruins' leading scorer in 1974-75, had 21 points and Richard Washington added 18.

For Washington, Clarence Ramsey led the way with 19 points while 6-10 Lars Hansen collected 18 and Larry Jackson 16.

The Huskies actually outscored the Bruins from the field -35-34 —but UCLA outscored Washington 24-12 at the free throw line. The Bruins had a 47-38 edge in rebounds with Meyers leading the way with 13 and Washington grabbing 10.

USC and Oregon, the two teams who figure to give the Bruins the toughest battle in the Pac-8, swing into action tonight with Stanford visiting Oregon and Washington St. visiting the Trojans. California calls on Oregon State.

In West Coast action Thursday, Earl Hogue scored 17 to lead San Jose State, now 12-5, to a 76-62 win at Portland State.

Long Beach State fell 91-86 at Oral Roberts and mighty mite guard Vic Kelly led Hawaii to a 79-78 squeaker at Centenary.

In first round play at the Point Loma Classic at San Diego, it was host Point Loma 84 Northwest Nazarene 65; once-beaten Olivet Nazarene 88 Southern California College 72; US International 69 Sioux Falls 62; and Biola 67 Grace 57.

Tanzania's ace to race in L.A.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Tanzania's Filbert Bayi, the world record holder at 1,500 meters, will make his first American appearance in the 16th annual Los Angeles Times Indoor Games at the Forum Feb. 7.

The 21-year-old African broke Jim Ryun's 6½-year-old world mark with a sizzling 3:32.2 clocking at the British Commonwealth Games in New Zealand last Feb. 2.

His 1,500-meter time was the equivalent of a 3:49.2 mile. The world mile record is 3:51.1 held by Ryun.

Bayi will be joined by three other Tanzanians in the Times meet; quartermiler Claver Kamanya, two-miler Mujaya Nyambui and a female halfmiler, Mwinga Mwanjala.

James Gilkes to attend USC

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—James Gilkes, a native of Guyana and one of the world's premier sprinters, will transfer to University of Southern Calimornia for the spring semester.

Competing for Fisk University of Nashville, Tenn., last year, Gilkes won the NCAA 220-yard dash in a wind-aided 19.9 seconds at Austin, Tex., last June. He was runnerup to Jamaica's Don Quarrie, an ex-USC sprinter, in the 200-meter event in the National AAU meet here, also in June.

Gilkes has been enrolled at Rio Hondo Junior College at Whittier, Calif. He will be eligible to compete for the Trojans this spring.

Cal Poly opens conference season at home

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

Cal Poly's basketball team is building momentum at the perfect time.

The Broncos, who looked hopeless in December, have arrived thanks to four new players.

They will make their official home debut tonight when Poly hosts Cal State Bakersfield in the California Collegiate Athletic Association opener.

Coach Don Hogan's Broncs return to action at Kellogg Gym Saturday night against archrival Cal Poly San Liis Obispo, the defending CCAA champions.

Both games begin at 8 p.m. following preliminary volleyball contests.

KSOM (1510), with Graham Crow and Ed Nelson at the mike, will broadcast the games.

Poly has also reduced ticket prices with students plus children 12 and under admitted free if accompanied by adults.

The Broncs suffered through December with only eight players and an 0-4 record as it appeared Hogan's team wouldn't be a factor in the CCAA race.

But things have changed in 1975. With the additional help, Poly upset major college foe Cal State Los Angeles, 59-58, and ripped Cal Lutheran, 107-78, within the past week.

"We're improving each game, there's no doubt about that," Hogan says. "This team potentially could surprise a lot of people. We have the ability to explode."

All of a sudden, the Broncs are Hogan's Heroes once again.

Poly still isn't blessed with much height but Hogan has plenty of quickness to work with plus better shooting with the addition of Joseph Sills, a 6-3 transfer from Arizona Western College.

A key plus for Hogan is the sudden depth. All 12 players scored in Wednesday's rout at Cal Lutheran and the Bronco mentor plans of playing everyone.

"I believe in a team concept and we are getting it," Hogan said. "We played the first four games with only eight players. New we have 12 and we are a team. We're working together as an unit. It all started against Cal State L.A. and it just happened. It had nothing to do with what I said or what I did."

Junior forward Paul Newton continues to pace the Broncos in the statistics by averaging 15.9 points and 9.6 rebounds per game.

The other probable starters are Sills at forward, center Bill Cantwell plus guards Dick Gross and Tom Ispas.

This is a key weekend for Poly's hopes for a CCAA title.

With the league schedule reduced to eight games, it is more important than ever to win the home games.

"There's no way we can afford to lose both games," Hogan admitted. "We have to gain at least a split and hopefully win them both. I feel we have to be recognized as a definite title threat."

Bakersfield, which annually fields a strong team under Jim Larson's direction, brings a 6-5 season record. Four of the Roadrunners' losses have been to major college opponents.

Veteran center Carl Toney (6-8) is Bakersfield's key man. He was selected the Most Valuable Player in last week's Golden Empire Tournament.

Forward Jeff Garnett (6-7) is Bakersfield's top scorer with a 16.9 average followed by Toney at 14.5 and guard Mitch Plast (6-2) at 10.9. Garnett leads the conference in field goal shooting with a 53.8 percentage.

Cal Poly SLO takes an 8-3 season record into tonight's CCAA opener at UC Riverside. The Mustangs continue to stress defense under Ernie Wheeler's coaching. SLO is allowing only 61.4 points a game.

Guard Gary Orgill of the Mustangs leads the CCAA in scoring with a 16.9 average and in free throw shooting with an 83.9 percentage.

Swann is sounding like a pro veteran

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — These days it is hardly uncommon to find a rookie who sounds as if he has been around the National Football League for five or six years.

And Lynn Swann is one of them.

Swann, the sure-handed flanker who averaged almost 20 yards a catch for the Pittsburgh Steelers this season, knows full well that the type of chance his team has available this Sunday in Superbowl IX is one that should be seized.

"Football is so unpredictable," said Swann. "We have a super-team, but we lost to Houston at home and were played very close by some teams.

"It is such a struggle to get here, that once you do you want to take it all while you have the chance."

Pittsburgh's chance comes against two-time loser Minnesota and Swann, because of his collegiate experience, feels he is well prepared.

"I think the biggest advantage I have had is that I was surrounded by excellent talent at USC when I was there — people like Sam Cunningham and Anthony Davis and a lot more.

"It gets to where you are comfortable being around such talent. You don't feel like a big fish in a small pond.

"And I played in two Rose Bowls which helped, too. That helps you to adjust to the pressure and it helps you get used to the press.

"I can see where someone who has not been through all this can get a little uptight. And he might think he and his team have it made just by getting this far and he forgets that you have one more very big game to play."

Swann's rookie season was made potentially troublesome since three different quarterbacks started for the Steelers in 1974.

But Swann majored in public relations at USC so he knows full well how to respond to questions about the Steelers' quarterback rotation.

"My favorite quarterback is whichever one is in there at the time," Swann said. "You can adjust to them all. Joe Gilliam is the hardest thrower. He can throw those high, deep passes. Terry Bradshaw likes the medium routes more and Terry Hanratty throws a softer pass with the end of the ball up a little."

Swann wears a USC class ring, emblamatic of his football success in college. His public relations background also shows when he is asked if he would rather wear his USC ring or a Superbowl championship ring.

"I'd wear them both," he said.

Ed Bourdase enjoys lead in L.A. Open

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI) — Capturing six of eight games while knocking down 2,004 pins, veteran Ed Bourdase, Fresno, Calif., advanced to first place Thursday night as match play began in the $60,000 Greater Los Angeles Open bowling tournament.

Enroute, the 46-year-old Bourdase turned in a 300 game, one of three tossed during the day. Bourdase started the first of three eight-game sessions of head-to-head play far down the line in 11th place, trailing leader Marshall Holman, Medford, Ore., by 166 pins.

But Bourdase's block put him into the lead, going into today's last two sets of matches after which only five men will move into the finals.

The three-time champion started out with a 227, then came through with lines of 268 and 225 before shooting his 300. He finished with 248, 279, 277 and 180 to wind up with a pinfall of 6,151 and a lead of 73.

Included in Bourdase's totals were 180 pins, 30 for each match game victory. Holman managed the same number of victories as the leader, although he downed only 1,765 pins. Holman's edge over Larry Laub, defending champion from San Francisco, was 61.

Laub made the biggest jump, though, coming from a tie for 20th place to a contending role. He had a 1,956 series, including a pair of 279s as he too posted a 6-2 record.

Tim Albin, North Hollywood, Calif., who rolled one of the 300s, was in seventh place, while the other 300 was made by Matt Surina, Longview, Wash., who failed to place for money.

Pincay has big day, rides four winners

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI) — Six-year-old Impressive Style, piloted by Laffit Pincay, outdueled younger rival Modus Vivendi Thursday to capture the $20,000 Buckpasser Handicap at Santa Anita.

Pincay had four winners during the afternoon to run his victory total to 21 after 12 days of the 76-day meeting here.

Impressive Style took command with authority at the eighth pole of the 6½-furlong test and won by 1¾ lengths over Modus Vivendi, which had Don Pierce up.

Mon Miel was four lengths back of the runner-up for third place in the short field of five.

Clocked in 1:15 1-5, for the fastest 6½ furlongs of the meeting, Impressive Style paid $6.60 to win.

Pincay also had wins aboard Creeky Pete ($6.20) in the third race, Dark Encounter ($31.20) in the fifth and Latent Legacy ($9.20) in the sixth.

In 79 mounts, he had seven more wins than Alvaro Pineda.

Miller proves his point

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Johnny Miller, as everyone knows, was the king of the tour a year ago when he won eight titles and then went to Japan, just for good measure, and came home with an additional $30,000 for a $384,000 year.

Twice during December he went out to practice and quit after nine holes.

"I was hitting it so good," said the 27-year-old Miller, "that I quit. I didn't see any part of my game that needed work, so why practice."

To prove his point, Miller went out and shot a four-under-par 67 Thursday in the opening round of the $150,000 Phoenix Open, first event of the 1975 Tour. He hit the ball as well as ever off the tee and putted better than he expected.

"I think I could have shot a better round," he said later, "but I didn't take advantage of all my opportunities. Still, every part of my game seems as solid as it did last year, so I really don't have any complaints. If I keep on playing this way, I will be right up there on Sunday.

John Mahaffey and Leonard Thompson, who ranked 15th and 16th, respectively, on the money winning list last year, more than $200,000 behind Miller, played as well as John in the opening round to grab a share of the lead with 1974's Player of the Year.

There were a number of fine rounds played by the others in the field, but all the attention is on Miller, because of the way he pinged the par 37-35 —71 Phoenix Country Club course.

Miller eagled the par 5, 524-yard first hole when he put a three-iron to within three feet of the cup and holed out. He also had four birdies and was on the way to a spectacular round when he double bogeyed the fifth while playing the back side first.

"I skulled it on my approach and then missed from 10 feet," Miller said of the hole. "It's the kind of mistake anyone can make, so it didn't upset me."

Mahaffey, playing late in the day when a 20-mile-per-hour wind swept across the Arizona country, had in some respects, a better round. The 26-year-old pro from Texas, who grew up playing in the wind, scrambled a bit but made the most of his opportunities. His best hole was the sixth where he chipped in from 20-feet for a bird.

"The wind didn't bother me, although I don't like to play in it," he said. "In many ways I think I played better than I anticipated."

Thompson was all over the course but made half a dozen outstanding shots to grab a share of the lead. He sank a 45-footer for a bird on the fourth, a 20-footer on the ninth and followed with a 15-footer on the tenth and an 18-footer on the 12th.

"I'm happy because it's the best round I have ever shot on the Winter Tour," said the 28-year-old Thompson.

Six players —Tommy Aaron, Bob Rosburg, J.C. Snead, Roy Taste, Mike Reasor, and Mike Mitchell —were only a shot back at three under 68 while Jim Ahern, Dick Lotz, Pete Brown, John Schroedor, Dwight Nevil and Orville Moody, were at 69. PGA champ Lee Trevino, another noted wind player, didn't do well. He opened with a 73 but that was two shots better than U.S. Open champ Hale Irwin.

In all, 46 players in the 150-man field shot par or better over a course that at best could be described as not difficult.

"I think the excellent condition of the course had more to do with the good scores than anything else," said Miller. "It is pretty hard to beat the conditions we had here on the Winter Tour.,"

The cut, of course, will be made after the second round today, with the low 70s going on to play the final two rounds off his play here Thursday Miller is the odds-on choice to win the $30,000 first prize and go on as many expect, to another fine year.

Trojans host WSU to open Pac-8 slate

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — University of Southern California launches its annual Pacific-8 basketball chase of UCLA tonight when it faces Washington State's Cougars.

The Bruins prevailed over Washington in their conference inaugural. UCLA is after its ninth straight Pac-8 crown.

"There truly are no weak teams in the conference," said USC Coach Bob Boyd. "The thing that makes the league so difficult is that for the first time in my nine years as USC coach every team is capable of winning a key game.

"That's why I'm glad we're opening at home. It's extremely important that we take advantage of it."

The Trojans take a 10-1 record against the 7-3 Cougars. They're at the Sports Arena Saturday night against Washington.

In the last two seasons, USC has compiled a 19-1 record.

A year ago, the Trojans took a 9-1 record into league action but were stunned at Washington State 71-56. They rallied to finish 11-3 in the conference — second to UCLA's 12-2--for Boyd's fifth second-place finish to John Wooden's Bruins in his eight previous seasons here.

Craig Fertig rejoins USC

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Craig Fertig, a former University of Southern California quarterback and assistant football coach, has been appointed as an administrative assistant to athletic director John McKay, the Trojans said Thursday.

Fertig, 32, left after 13 years at USC to become an assistant coach with the Portland Storm in the World Football League. He previously spent nine years as a McKay assistant.

Kings' Vachon 'still in sky', stops 33 shots in 5-2 victory

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Goaltender Rogie Vachon of the Los Angeles Kings says he's "kind of in the sky" about being an unanimous selection to serve on the National Hockey League Prince of Wales Conference All-Star team.

Whether he was in the sky or on the ice Thursday night, however, he showed exactly why he had been chosen for the All-Stars as he stopped 33 Buffalo Sabres shots with acrobatic precision and remarkable efforts. The Kings beat the Sabres, 5-2.

"It's always been like a dream. You always think there's somebody better than you," he said. "I've been around this league a long time and all of a sudden I look up and I find I'm the best right now.

"What else can you ask for?"

The game was close for the first two periods, closely checked and skated with aggression. The Kings went ahead 3-2 late in the second period when Butch Goring took a neat drop-pass from Gene Carr and caught Gary Bromley watching Carr.

After that, the Kings got two insurance goals, including one obligingly placed in the net by Sabre Jim Schoenfeld.

The victory moved the Kings within one point of the Montreal Canadiens in the NHL's Division III, while the Sabres' lead over the Boston Bruins in Division IV was cut to three points.

"It seemed like they couldn't get the rebound," said Vachon. "I only had to make one save (each time the Sabres had the puck down the ice.)"

"We got good goaltending," said Vachon's coach, Bob Pulford, "and we were fortunate to get the breaks."

Pulford said the Kings, who have beaten the Sabres three times this season and are the only team to do so, got "a lot of retribution. They took every game off us for the past few years —and we thought we'd get a couple back."

Sabres Coach Floyd Smith had a different view.

"It's frustrating. We've got to work for everything we get and the other team —plink, plink and it's in the net," he said. "It was a very frustrating evening. Mistakes cost us."

Los Angeles, with only two losses in 19 away games this season, continues its seven-game road trip at Toronto Saturday night.

The Kings won't be home until Jan. 23 when they play Toronto.

Becerril scores 5th round KO

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Carlos Becerril of Los Angeles, scored a fifth-round knockout Thursday night over Utah's Richie Alvarado in a scheduled 10-round featherweight bout.

Becerril was connecting with solid right hands and had Alvarado out on his feet when referee Larry Rozadilla stopped the fight at 2:18 of the fifth round. There were no knockdowns.

It was Becerril's 10th victory in 11 bouts and his ninth KO. Alvarado, of Salt Lake City, fell to 16-6.

Angels appoint Rodgers

ANAHEIM (UPI) — Bob Rodgers, a coach with the Minnesota Twins for the past five seasons, will manage California's Salinas farm club in the Class A California League this year, the Angels announced Thursday.

Rodgers, 36, served as the Twins' pitching and bullpen coach last year. He replaces Jim Saul, who became a coach with the Chicago Cubs.

Rodgers caught for the Angels from 1961 through 1969.

The Angels also announced they have promoted Jim Williams, 31, to manager of their El Paso team in the class double A Texas league. Williams guided Quad-Cities to a division title in the class A Midwest League last season.

Williams also has managed Angel teams to three straight pennants in the Arizona Instructional League.

Halos hope Aikens plays like Mays

NEW YORK (UPI) — Willie Mays Aikens, a powerful, young man who was born to play baseball in the flamboyant manner of his namesake, was faced with the opportunity today to move west just as Willie Mays did 18 years ago to begin his pro career.

Aikens, who packs a home run punch in his muscular 6-foot-3, 220-pound frame, was made the second choice in baseball's annual winter free agent draft Thursday when he was selected by the California Angels. The only player who went ahead of the 20-year-old first baseman was his former teammate at South Carolina State College, outfielder Gene Richards.

Richards, a plus .400 hitter in his final two collegiate seasons, was signed immediately upon his selection by the San Diego Padres, whose director of player personnel, Bob Fontaine, commented, "He has that little bit of daring in him that makes for a good base runner. Selecting him is just one more step toward attaining our goal of getting more running speed is the organization. He hits for a high average, but is a contact hitter rather than a slugger."

Aikens, though, is the man who can earn the attention because of his name and slugging potential. His mother, Lucile Aikens, made the revelation that it was the doctor who delivered him who suggested the name of Willie Mays.

"When he was born, he weighed about 10 pounds and the doctor said that this boy is going to be a famous ballplayer and that he should be named after Willie Mays," Mrs. Aikens said. "At that time I didn't know he would grow up to be a good ballplayer but my boy has always loved baseball, from a little boy coming up, he was always playing it."

Aikens, who bats left and throws right, hit .360 with 12 homers at South Carolina State last season and according to Walter Shannon, scouting director of the Angels, "He has major league power and we feel he has the potential to be a high RBI man in the near future."

Aikens met Thursday night with Walter Youse, California's scout for that area.

Ironically, although South Carolina State became the first college to provide the major leagues with their top two draft choices the same year, the school no longer has a baseball team. The sport was dropped as an economic move.

There were 161 players chosen in the regular phase and another 104 in the secondary phase, which included those players drafted last June who didn't sign and still were eligible. The Philadelphia Phillies, with the first choice in the secondary phase, selected and immediately signed outfielder Barry Bonnell of Milford, Ohio.

Bonnell, a 6-3, 190-pound righthander, was voted the Most Valuable Player of Ohio State's team last season after batting .319. Philadelphia Scout Tony Lucadello, who signed such players as Mike Schmidt, Mike Marshall, Ferguson Jenkins, Larry Hisle, Alex Johnson and Steve Arlin, said of Bonnell, "This boy has more pluses as a free agent than any other kid I have signed except Larry Hisle...Barry has natural baseball instincts; nothing is crude."

Infielder Bump Wills, son of former star Maury Wills, was chosen in the sixth slot of the secondary draft by Texas and All-America running back Anthony Davis of USC was chosen as an outfielder in the fourth round by Minnesota.

There were 12 pitchers selected by the 24 clubs on the opening round of the regular phase, and only one of them is lefthanded — Patrick McGehee of Carson, Calif., who was taken 20th by the New York Yankees. There was also only one catcher chosen in that round, James Slaughter of Pasadena, Calif., who was taken 21st by Cincinnati.

Another oddity of the first round was the selection of 21-year-old twins, shortstop Tom Brookens and outfielder Tim Brookens, both of Fayetteville, Pa. Tom was picked fourth by Detroit and Tim 18th by Texas.

SPORTS NEWS IN BRIEF

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Billie Jean King had to change her usual game plan, but still managed to beat old rival Francois Durr of France in quarterfinal action of the $75,000 Virginia Slims tournament Thursday night, first event of the 1975 women's pro tennis tour.

She'll battle Virginia Wade of Great Britain tonight, while Chris Evert and Martina Navratilova, meet in the other semifinal battle at Civic Auditorium.

King beat Durr 3-6, 6-3, 6-2, with a baseline game after Durr's deep shots cut off King's usual charging tactics and won the French girl the first set.

"I had to stay back and return almost all my shots with a slicing backhand, which is definitely not my style," Ms. King said after the hard-fought match.

Miss Wade showed an explosive serve in beating Julie Heldman 6-2, 6-3, in the other quarterfinal match Thursday.

KENT, Ohio (UPI) — J. Dennis Fitzgerald, an assistant coach at Kent State for the past four years, Thursday was named head football coach at the school, replacing Don James who resigned to become head coach at the University of Washington.

Fitzgerald, 38, a native of Ann Arbor, Mich., was a football and wrestling standout at the University of Michigan and also served on the Wolverine's coaching staff. He left Michigan to join the coaching staff at the University of Kentucky and was recruited by James four years ago.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Memphis State football coach Fred Pancoast resigned Thursday night to become the 19th head football coach for the Vanderbilt University Commodores.

DETROIT (UPI) — The World Hockey Association will take over the operations of the financially ailing Michigan Stags, club sources said today.

The sources said official word of the takeover will come at a news conference at 11 a.m. in suburban Southfield.

The news conference was called by Fred Keywell, attorney for Metro Sports Associates, which owns the club that moved to Detroit last year from Los Angeles.

But sources said the Stags would remain in Detroit for at least the rest of the season.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — After last season, Larry Fogle said he wouldn't turn pro unless he was given an offer he couldn't refuse.

Today, Fogle, who led the nation's collegiate basketball players in scoring last season, may be listening to any and all offers.

Fogle, a 6-5 junior forward who once scored 73 points during only three quarters of play in a high school game in Detroit, was dropped from the Canisius College team Thursday by Coach John McCarthy.

Dr. Daniel P. Starr, director of athletics at Canisius, said McCarthy was dropping Fogle from the squad for the remainder of the season "for the overall good of the team."

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — The financially troubled Indiana Pacers are going back to the American Basketball Association for more help.

Owners of the Pacers decided Thursday to delay selling the club, at least until an acceptable offer is received.

Directors of Indiana Professional Sports, Inc., (IPS) parent corporation of the Pacers, had set a noon deadline on Thursday for acceptance of counter offers made to prospective buyers of the franchise. None of three prospective buyers accepted the counter offer made by IPS, which earlier had rejected proposals from the three groups.

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Bruce Affleck, a defenseman, was acquired by the St. Louis Blues Thursday from the California Seals in exchange for right wing Frank Spring and cash.

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI) — Jose Napoles of Mexico will defend his world welterweight championship against Angel Espada of Puerto Rico here March 1, according to boxing sources.

Espada is the top-ranking welterweight challenger. The sources said Napoles is scheduled to arrive here Jan. 16.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Farrukh Quraishi, a three-time All-America midfield player from Oneonta State College in New York, Thursday was selected as the outstanding college soccer player of 1974.

Midfielder Mike Bain of Howard University was second in the voting conducted among college coaches.

Celtics back on top in return to form

By United Press International

John Havlicek was right.

He struggled along with the rest of the Boston Celtics early in the season while the Buffalo Braves pulled out to a big lead in the NBA's Atlantic Division, but when Dave Cowens showed signs of returning to form after missing the first 17 games with a broken foot, Havlicek said it was "just a matter of time" before the Celtics would be back on top.

The Celtics, defending league champions, showed Buffalo that they're still the team to beat Thursday when they handed the Braves a 108-100 defeat before the largest crowd ever to watch an NBA game in Toronto— 13,544. The victory put Boston two full games ahead of Buffalo.

"It's a big victory," said Havlicek after adding 21 points to Cowens' 28 in the win. "It moves us three ahead in the loss column and winning this game moves us one up and drops them one down, so it's like a double victory."

In other NBA action, Golden State romped over New York 132-96 and Washington beat Houston 102-94.

In the ABA, Indiana downed Memphis 122-112 and Kentucky tripped St. Louis 123-116.

Bob McAdoo, the NBA's leading scorer, went over the 5,000-point mark with his 30 point total. McAdoo now has 5,019 points in just 2½ seasons.

Warriors 132, Knicks 96

Led by Rick Barry's 33 points, Golden State handed the Knicks their worst defeat of the year. The Warriors simply outraced, outshot, outrebounded and outhustled the slumping Knicks.

Barry, who sat out most of the fourth period when the outcome was already decided, paced a sparkling Warrior effort that gave Golden State its sixth victory in the last seven games and third straight over New York. Barry erupted for 17 of his points in the second period, helping Golden State roll to a 59-42 lead at the half.

Wilkes was next in the Warriors' scoring column with 18 and Johnson added 17. Reserve guard Henry Bibby led the Knicks with 23 points.

Bullets 102,, Rockets 94

Forward Elvin Hayes hit 23 points and grabbed 15 rebounds and Phil Chenier added 21 points to lead Washington over the error-plagued Rockets. The win gave Washington a 28-12 record, best in the NBA. The Rockets hurt themselves with 19 turnovers. Rudy Tomjanovich led Houston with 22 points.

Colonels 123, Spirits 116

Artis Gilmore scored 28 points, pulled down 20 rebounds and blocked eight shots and Bird Averitt added 26 points to pace Kentucky. St. Louis came back from deficits of 14 points in the first quarter and 13 in the second quarter to tie the game late in the third period but couldn't take the lead despite a game-high 29 points from rookie Marvin Barnes. The Colonels pulled away once more and ran up a lead of 19 points midway in the final quarter.

Pacers 122, Sounds 112

George McGinnis scored 31 points and Johnny Neumann hit 15 of his 21 points in the fourth quarter to lead Indiana. Neumann, a former prep star and professional in Memphis, hit a three point play with 53 seconds to go to seal the victory.

Tigers win in soccer, 4-2

Chaffey High upped its record to 9-3 with a 4-2 soccer victory over Baldwin Park Thursday.

Marvin Fernandez, Frank Fernandez, Mike Mceachron and Jack Castillon each scored goals for the Tigers. Castillon leads the team in scoring with 11 goals while Frank Fernandez has scored 10.

Chaffey returns to action Tuesday in a 3 p.m. match at Nogales High. The Tigers host Northview Thursday at 3 p.m.

Outlaws skate to 13-4 victory

The Ontario Outlaws hockey team will take an 8-3-1 season record into Sunday night's match against Whittier at the Polar Palace in Whittier.

Coach Bob Lorenzo's Outlaws smashed San Diego State, 13-4, Wednesday night at the Ontario Ice Bowl as Tim McKinnon scored four goals. Mike Leboffe tallied three while Paul Pflum added two. Ron Kennedy and Ron Constantine had six assists apiece.

Ronald Pound takes charge of Pomona's soccer league

By ADRIAN MERCADO
P-B Correspondent

The Pomona American Youth Soccer Organization (AYSO) held elections this week to elect a new slate of officers for the 1975-76 season marking the first time that Board members have been elected by the general membership.

Heading the newly elected Executive Board will be Ronald Pound, who will be giving up his present position as Executive Secretary and coach for the Kickers to take the helm of the organization. One of his first duties will be to appoint a new Executive Secretary for the coming season.

Adrian Mercado, outgoing Regional Commissioner, will take over the new position of Chief Coach which has been created for the purpose of upgrading the quality of soccer for Pomona AYSO.

Joe Sims was voted in as Chief Referee. He will have the responsbility of scheduling and training referees for the 1975-76 season, as well as recruiting new candidates for officiating games.

The Division Commissioners elected to head each age group are as follows:

Senior Division (15-18)—Steve McLain; Division I (13-14)—Dave Hughlock; Division II (11-12)—Norm Melling; Division III (9-10)—Dave Wilber; Division IV (7-8) — Steve Muchmore; and Girls—Doris Hughlock.

The position of Commissioner for Facilities and Equipment was voted to be a Co-Commissionership between the present office holder, Dave Bess and Ethel Melling. Roy Stunrod, present Treasurer of the organization is expected to resume his duties in the same capacity for the coming season.

Al Veccio, Area Director for the American Youth Soccer Organization, was invited to the meeting and acted as chairman during the voting procedures.

Meanwhile, back on the playing field, and seemingly unconcerned about the upcoming elections, players went about their business of trying to gain top places in the standings. In the Girls Division, the Pomona Soccerettes moved up to third place, only one point out of first, by shutting out the Diamond Bar Prarie Stompers 3-0 on the sharpshooting of Jill Grani, Tammy Marker, and Lisa Pound.

In Division II-Girls, the Claremont Sea Hawks blanked the Pomona Tulips 7-0. The Pomona Daffodils dueled the Claremont Roadrunners to a 1-1 draw; Tina Scott scored for Pomona and Karin Carter scored the opening tally for Claremont. The Pomona Bluebells made Karen Scarcia's early goal hold up as they went on to capture their first season win against the Claremont Sagehens.

In Division III-Girls the Pomona Dandelions continued their winning ways by defeating the Claremont Peacocks 1-0 placing them in a first place tie in that Division with the Claremont Ravens who were idle. The Claremont Hawks bettered their record to a 4-4-1 by blanking the Pomona Buttercups 2-0.

In a very exciting match which pitted the two second-place teams in the Red League-Boys' Division II, the Pomona Service Center Torpedos and the Eastern Airlines Wings clashed under the lights at Ralph Welch Park, and hustled to a 2-2 tie. Steven Mercado opened the scoring early in the first half for the Eastern Wings but Travis Hayes of the "Torps" evened it up a short time later. Before the first half came to a close Randy Turner of the Wings outran the defense and scored the second goal for his team. The Torpedos reloaded their torpedo tubes for the second half and came out firing at the Wings' net forcing their opponent's defense to work to capacity. With a powerful shot that surprised the Wings' goalie David Cianciolo, Trevor Jordan hit the net giving his team a well deserved tie.

In Division III-Boys the Radio Station KSOM Kickers clinched the pennant for the White League by defeating the Larry Wellin Jewelers' Ravens 3-1 on single tallies by Mike Maynard, Chuck Lavrusky, and Gary Mastny; the Ravens' tally came by way of a well placed penalty shot by Mike Muchmore.

Undersize fish take surveyed

The taking of undersize fish is a common practice among the sport fishermen of northern San Diego and Orange counties, according to a survey now in progress by marine biologists of the California Department of Fish and Game.

From a sample of 17,169 fish of all species taken by 14,531 anglers during the past year, the biologists found that 64 per cent of all California halibut and 63 per cent of all barracuda were of less than legal size when taken.

Minimum legal size for halibut is 22 inches and for barracuda 28 inches, according to Fish and Game regulations.

Marine biologist Therese Hoban said the limits were established to make sure the species is able to reproduce and perpetuate itself. She said the 28-inch limit on barracuda allows 100 per cent of these fish to spawn at least once, and the 22-inch limit on halibut allows at least 50 per cent to spawn.

Hoban noted that there had been a significiant decline in the catch of both species during the past few years. And she said the catching of illegal size fish could have been a significant factor in this decline.

The survey also disclosed that 42 per cent of the spotted sand bass, 31 per cent of the kelp bass and 20 per cent of the barred sand bass were less than the 12-inch legal limit.

Hoban said the survey of sport fishermen in Southern California will be continued and expanded into Los Angeles and Ventura counties during the coming year.

Meanwhile Fish and Game wardens studied results of the survey with more than a little interest.

"Now that we have pinpointed problem areas we will be on special lookout for illegal size this coming year," said Capt. Gordon Cribbs of the Marine Patrol.

He said an increased effort in the area of conservation education should help alleviate the problem.

Cribbs said that over the past three years an average of 76 citations a year had been issued for undersize halibut and 32 citations a year for barracuda.

He noted the survey sample of halibut was 152 fish, 87 of which were undersize, and the survey sample of barracuda was 206 fish, 121 of which were undersize.

Cribbs said the barracuda problem is compounded by the fact that most of the fish coming through are small, and he said that many fishermen were not familiar with regulations. As for sandbass, he said the problem there was usually one of identification.

Copies of fishing regulations are available wherever fishing licenses are sold, Cribbs said.

THE ORANGE TORNADO — Actor Lloyd Bridges takes a little spin in an inflatable rubber canoe which will be on display through Sunday at the Sports Vacation and Recreation Vehicle Show at the Anaheim Convention Center. The canoe has been dubbed the Orange Torpedo.

Quality pier fishing at San Clemente

San Clemente is a good bet if yoi intend to go pier fishing in northern San Diego or Orange counties, according to a year's results of a continuing survey by marine biologists of the California Department of Fish and Game.

"It's a matter of quality," says marine biologist Therese Hoban, who is compiling results of the study. "You are more likely to catch spotfin and yellowfin croakers at San Clemente than at any other pier. And these are two highly desirable species.

"If it's quantity you want, Huntington Beach pier is the place to go," Hoban said. "But more than 74 per cent of the catch there is made up of white croaker and queenfish, two of the least desirable species."

Fishing piers at San Clemente, Huntington Beach, Newport Beach and South Laguna and boat launching ramps at Dana Point and Newport Beach were among the fishing sites included in the survey.

In all, 14,531 anglers were interviewed and 17,169 fish inspected and measured during a period from August, 1973, to August, 1974.

Fishing success was found to vary widely.

The 5,447 anglers interviewed at Huntington Beach pier had 9,043 fish in their possession, an average of 1.6 per angler. But 74 per cent of these were white croaker and queenfish averaging eight inches in length.

On the other hand, the 2,268 anglers interviewed at San Clemente had 3,105 fish, an average of 1.4 per person. Although 65 per cent of these were queenfish and white croaker, they tended to be larger than those caught at Huntington Beach. Approximately 4 per cent of the catch consisted of spotfin and yellowfin croakers, which were not found at Huntington Beach.

Fishing success was the poorest at Newport Beach, with only 1,995 fish possessed by 3,987 anglers, an average of a half fish per person.

In terms of total fish produced, Aliso Pier in South Laguna had the poorest record with 1,589 fish taken by 1,611 anglers, an average of .9 of a fish per person.

"Aliso Pier has its compensations, however," Hoban said. "It is very neat, uncrowded and has plenty of parking space. It's a fun place to go if you just like to fish and are not overly interested in the amount of fish you take or their size."

Hoban noted that fishing success for desirable species such as corbina could be increased by fishing at the right place on a pier.

"You can catch corbina or yellowfin croaker in the white water just shoreward of the breaking surf, especially during low tide," Hoban said. "At high tide I would recommend fishing in the trough of the wave."

Hoban said the department survey showed that boat fishermen at Dana Point fared better than did those at Newport Beach, probably because fishing pressure has been less there in the past.

The 4,082 anglers interviewed at the Dana Point launching ramp had 5,886 fish and 109 green abalones in their possesion.

Garr easy winner

Ralph Garr, the Atlanta Braves' speedster, was the 13th N.L. outfielder in the last 14 years to win the league batting crown. His .353 easily outdistanced the field. The only non-outfielder to win was St. Louis' Joe Torre (now with the N.Y. Mets), who hit .363 in 1971, when he was a third baseman. Garr's pitching teammates, righthanders Buzz Capra and Phil Niekro were 1-2 in ERA with 2.28 and 2.38.

Northern Cal ski report

Squaw Valley

Veteran and senior far west ski racers will be meeting at Squaw Valley through Friday for a downhill camp. FWSA vet-senior downhill races will be held at Squaw through Sunday. Beginning Monday, students from San Jose Sate will be at Squaw Valley for the annual Winter Carnival. Included in the carnival this year is the first Squaw Valley Steeplechase (a benefit for the Placer County Big Brother program). The steeplechase is not a race, but is a test of ski ability (non-stop) over a long, twisting course. Skiers will receive prizes for runs nearest the course par time. The Paul Masson Wine Barrel Stave Race will be held Wednesday at 1 p.m. at the base of Squaw Valley's new mainline lift. California and Nevada ski pros will ski head to head in the Kastle Challenge Duel Pro Event scheduled for Squaw Valley USA, January 15. This is one of the North Shore Club Grand Prix events and has a $1,000 purse. Top skiers entered include Eric Poulsen, Phillips Mollard, Tim Kennedy, and Randy Cook.

Dodge Ridge

Dodge Ridge will host its third annual K2 Ski Hot Dog Contest next weekend with competition open to all skiers. Open to both men and women, competitors will be vieing for cash and merchandise awards. A new event this year is the special California Junior Hot Dog Contest. Competition includes controlled aerial events on Saturday, followed by ballet demonstrations. Ballet competiiton is scheduled Sunday morning, followed by a freestyle event at 1 p.m.

Northstar-Tahoe

Freestyle exhibitions will take place on Saturday and Sunday at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. With the arrival of the Sierra's first major snow storm of the season, Northstar-At-Tahoe received capacity crowds throughout New Year's Week. Snow conditions were rated excellent on packed and unpacked powder. New Year's Eve was celebrated with a cross-country cook-out for the heartier souls and a fun-filled evening in the Logger Restaurant with everyone ushering in 1975 at the Logger at Midnight.

Bear Valley

Sleigh bells ring, snow glistens, and it's "one-horse open sleigh" time at Bear Valley, where two vintage sleighs and a specially trained one-horse sleigh master are providing moonlight rides and turn-of-the century nostalgia. Newly acquired by Bear Valley is an authentic Vermont bob-sleigh, which has been placed into use in company with the unique resort's bright red antique sleigh from New Hampshire. The newest sleigh, recently restored, is a two-runner. Both vintage vehicles date back to the 1890's. Under the direction of sleigh-master Bruce Fergusson, the sleighs' horse-power is that of two purebred Morgans. Speical sleighride packages at Bear Valley include quiet jogs along the snow-packed roads of the Valley in the moonlight, caroling, and the possibility of dinner at one of the several speciality restaurants of the Valley. Each sleigh is capable of transporting five or six people.

Snow Summit

Calls to any one of several phone numbers can keep skiers up-to-date on Summit's latest ski conditions. The toll free number is 800-462-4071. If that is busy, our Los Angeles Capitol number can be called — CA 1-8711. The area number is 714-866-4621. Snow Summit uses two different methods for making snow: compressed air and water under pressure are blown out through a tube, the air vaporizing and accelerating the water particle fast enough so that the particle can fall as snow in ambient temperatures in the high 30's. The other process involves high pressure water sprayed out around a tube with a fan and a nucleating device providing the basis for the snow particle formation. As the air temperature and humidity drop, we can increase the amount of water flow to a point where our existing system, which is by far the largest in South California and one of the largest in the west, can convert 800 gallons of water per minute into snow at somewhere between 10 and 15 degrees.

Waterfowl hunters enjoy big weekend

Waterfowl hunters at the Wister unit of the state's Imperial Wildlife Area, near the Salton Sea, enjoyed their second best day of the season Saturday when they downed 1,159 ducks and 69 geese.

The resulting average of 3.6 birds per hunter was the second best record for the 1974-75 season. It was topped only by opening day when the average was 4.2 birds per hunter.

Department of Fish and game personnel at the wildlife area report that increased numbers of teal and shovelers have been moving into the area in the past week. Weather was clear and cool over the weekend.

Although Sunday hunters at Wister did not equal the Saturday average, they bagged 634 ducks and 19 geese for an average of 2.1 birds per hunter. The two-day species count at Wister included 987 shovelers, 369 green-winged teal, 180 pintails and 156 ruddy ducks.

The Canada goose season in the Southern California area closed on Sunday. There are two weekends remaining in the waterfowl season which closes on Jan. 19.

At the nearby Finney-Ramer unit of the Imperial Wildlife Area, open for shooting seven days a week, 49 hunters reported downing 66 ducks and 1 snow goose for the week ending Jan. 5.

In the southern San Joaquin Valley hunting on the Kern National Wildlife Refuge also was good on Sunday as 359 hunters downed 1,156 ducks despite cold weather and fog in the early morning hours for an average of 3.2 birds.

The log at Kern refuge shows 586 green-winged teal, 355 shovelers and 111 pintails. There were no geese taken at the Kern refuge.

Long Beach boat show

The British are coming to the Long Beach Sailboat Show.

Fourteen booths in the British exhibit will add more international flavor and stature to the all-sail show set for Feb. 14-23 at the waterfront Long Beach Arena.

The British displays will cover a variety of sailing subjects, including the brand new Fisher 37 sailboat, electronic gear, clothing, fittings, and even the S.O.S. swimwear.

The latter is an unique new life-saving device built into ordinary bikinis or swim trunks. It is said they can keep a swimmer afloat for many hours.

A minute concealed cylinder when pressed releases enough carbon dioxide to blow up a flotation device concealed in the belt of the swimsuit, which rides up under the arms like a lifebuoy.

The Fisher 37 is a typical heavy-duty North Sea-type boat to be at its best in heavy weather conditions.

Trout plant

The following lakes and streams, listed by county, are scheduled for restocking this week with catchable-size rainbow trout from Department of Fish and Game hatcheries:

LOS ANGELES—Hanson Dam, Lees Lake, Puddingstone Reservoir, San Gabriel River (East and Middle Forks).
RIVERSIDE — Cahuilla Lake
SAN BERNARDINO — Cucamonga-Guasti Park, Lytle Creek (Middle and North Forks).
VENTURA—Matilija Creek, Piru Lake, Upper Piru Creek, Ventura River.

Shot size limited

Resident small game and migratory game bird hunters are reminded of the California Fish and Game Commission ban on the use of shot larger than No. 2 will take effect Monday, Jan. 20, with the close of the 1974-75 waterfowl seasons in the state.

The prohibition on the use of BB and buckshot-size pellets in shotguns, designed to reduce crippling losses, was voted by commissioners Aug. 16. Also approved was a regulation requiring that shot remain loose in the shell — this to prevent "stringing."

Both provisions were suggested by Commissioner Peter T. Fletcher, and both were to remain in effect for one year.

Although California's principal waterfowl seasons will have closed for the year when the ban takes effect, the black sea brant season will be under way and will continue through Feb. 23.

The ban also will be in effect for the tail end of the general quail, chukar, tree squirrel and rabbit seasons

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE INVITING BIDS ON VEHICLE PARKING DISTRICT ASSESSMENT BONDS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City Council of the City of San Dimas, California, will receive sealed bids for the purchase of the following described bonds in the office of the City Clerk of Said City until 4:00 o'clock p.m. on January 13, 1975.

The bonds to be sold are bonds to be issued to represent unpaid assessments levied upon the lands within VEHICLE PARKING DISTRICT NO. 2 of said City to pay the cost of the acquisition and improvement of certain parking lots and related facilities under the Vehicle Parking District Law of 1943, Part 1 of Division 18 of the Streets and Highways Code of the state of California and in accordance with Ordinance of Intention No. 458. Said bonds are ten (10) in number and of varying principal amounts totaling the sum of $24,-877.51. Said bonds are dated August 10, 1974 and bear interest from that date at a rate of not to exceed eight per cent (8%) per annum. The first interest is payable on January 2, 1975, and thereafter the interest is payable semi-annually on July 2 and January 2. The principal of said bonds is payable by coupon in twenty (20) even annual installments payable on January 2 of each year beginning January 2, 1975. Said bonds are similar to bonds issued under the Improvement Act of 1911, Division 7 of the Streets and Highways Code, and, except as otherwise provided in said Vehicle Parking District Law of 1943, the provisions of Part 3 of said Improvement Act of 1911 apply to said bonds and govern as to the issuance, collection and enforcement thereof.

In each of said bonds the right will be reserved to redeem such bond at any time before maturity upon payment of the then unpaid principal with interest thereon to the due date of the next maturing coupon, PLUS A PREMIUM of three per cent (3%) of said unpaid principal.

Each bond is a lien upon the property upon which the assessment represented by such bond was levied. For a description of the respective lots, pieces and parcels of land upon which the several bonds are liens, and for other information, reference is made to the assessment recorded in the office of the Street Superintendent of said City and to the List of Unpaid Assessments in said matter on file in the office of the City Treasurer of said City.

Said bonds are to be sold for cash only to the best responsible bidder at not less than the par principal amount thereof. Each bid shall state that the bidder offers to buy said bonds at the par value thereof, and shall state the interest rate, not to exceed eight per cent (8%) per annum, payable as above provided, at which the bidder offers to buy said bonds. Bidders are directed to bid on a par flat basis without accrued interest. Any accrued interest bid will be entirely disregarded and need not be paid. Any premium offered will not be taken into consideration in determining the best bid except for the purpose of breaking a tie between two bids stating the same interest rate. Only one interest rate may be bid which rate may be stated in any multiple of 1-100ths of 1% or any multiple of 1-8th of 1%. No bid for a part of said bonds will be considered.

A certified or cashier's check on a responsible bank or trust company in the amount of $730 (seven hundred and thirty dollars) payable to the order of the City of San Dimas must accompany each proposal as a guaranty that the bidder, if successful, will accept and pay for said bonds in accordance with the terms of his bid. The proceeds of the check accompanying any accepted proposal shall be applied on the purchase price or, if such proposal is accepted but not performed, unless such failure of performance shall be caused by any act or omission of said city, shall then be retained by the City. The check accompanying each unaccepted proposal will be returned promptly.

The opinion of Oliver, Stover & Laskin, attorneys, approving the validity of said bonds will be furnished the successful bidder at or prior to the date of delivery of the bonds, at no expense to the bidder. Payment for and delivery of said bonds shall be made in the office of the City Treasurer.

It is expected that delivery of said bonds will be made on or about February 1, 1975.

The bids will be received at the Office of the City Clerk, City Hall, 245 East Bonita Avenue, San Dimas, California until 4:00 o'clock P.M. on January 13, 1975 at which time they will be publicly opened and read aloud.

The City Council reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive any irregularity or informality in any bid to the extent permitted by law.

GIVEN BY ORDER OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN DIMAS, ADOPTED DECEMBER 30, 1974.

Fraternities staging big comeback, but practice of hazing is rapidly dying

Fraternities are flourishing again on American campuses but the hoary custom of "hazing" pledges is the exception rather than the rule.

Hazing, widespread before the mid-1960s when Greek letter fraternities and sororities lost their popularity with students, could range from scavenger hunts to paddling and other physical abuse occasionally resulting in injury and even death. The hazing period was often called "hell week."

The suffocation in November of William Flowers, a Monmouth College (N.J.) student, when a grave he was forced to dig as part of a Zeta Beta Tau initiation rite collapsed on him, led to speculation that hazing was making a comeback. A UPI survey of a score of colleges and universities from Columbia University in New York to the University of Hawaii indicates that this is not the case.

The Indianapolis-based National Interfraternity Conference has banned hazing activities among its members, 45 of the nation's 60 fraternities on some 600 campuses. University authorities believe the ban is honored except in isolated cases. Paddles bearing fraternity symbols have been relegated to wall decoration, they say.

Records of hazing tragedies in the past 10 years are scarce and most indicate that the element of accident is more common than premeditated physical punishment which could result in civil court charges. As an example, the last publicized hazing death prior to that of Flowers happened in 1973 when Sigma Nu pledges at Butler University in Indiana were running along a highway at night. One was struck and killed by a car.

"We have defined hazing and banned it and every member fraternity has annexed it," said Jack L. Anson, executive director of the National Inter-fraternity Conference. "There is usually one tragic incident a year that draws national attention. What may start out to be the most innocent thing in the world can have tragic results. Our problem is education and re-education as to what is expected of fraternity members and what we consider undesirable actions."

Undesirable actions, in addition to any form of physical abuse or exercise that might be dangerous, includes quests, treasure hunts and outlandish garb that are likely to hold a person up to public attention or ridicule, according to Anson.

He insisted that hazing is not widespread and noted that pledges are "much more independent that they were" a few years ago. A number of fraternities no longer have pledges but name associate members who are activated at the end of a month or two of orientation sessions.

Herb Schwomeyer, dean of men at Butler, said he was confident that hazing is "on a very limited basis and takes place behind closed doors." Only the most obvious cases come to light. A brand of Greek letters on the forearm of a Cornell fraternity initiate led last year to a ban on "any physically or psychologically harmful or mutilating activities" by the Interfraternity Council at that university.

Dean Henry Coleman of Columbia College, Columbia University's undergraduate school, said he was surprised even to be asked about hazing because "that dates back to the '30s and '40s and was already on its way out here in the '50s."

But Edward King, Dean of Men at Bradley University Peoria, Ill., voiced a warning that hazing "seems to be coming back a little."

"I am a national officer of Sigma Chi and talking with other officers I find that last year and this year there seem to be more incidents," King said. "It's a surprise to us. During the periods of student activism a few years ago there was absolutely no hazing."

A spokesman for Stanford University in California, which has 12 fraternities, three of them coed, said there had been no hazing incidents for 20 years. Stanford had 24 fraternities in the 1960s and even then "hazing was stuff like depantsing some guy and leaving him in the mountains." Hazing is banned by state law in California.

Dean Ann Hawley, assistant director of student activities at the University of California at Berkeley, reported that antihazing statements are given out to the campus' 29 fraternities (five more than in 1970) each quarter and they must be signed by the house president.

"There is still probably a little fun and games, but nothing like Monmouth," Dean Hawley said. "If we found out about anything rough we would take action. The frats now usually make pledges do cleanup work."

Cleanup week has, indeed, replaced "hell week", according to Tom Spieker, president of Beta Theta Pi at UC.

"Hell week isn't physical any more," he said. "The guys clean up, paint and do constructive work around the house. I think it is very constructive because it brings the house together. At the end of the initiation period it makes for a stronger fraternity."

Houses that haze have difficulties getting students to join, a number of students pointed out.

Rick Wagoner, president of Delta Tau Delta at Duke University, summed it up this way: "Today brothers don't feel it necessary to engage in this sort of activity. They're more serious. They want more of a friendship relationship."

NEW YORK (UPI) — The federal government offers more than 25,000 publications to the public, many of which are available in more than 540 libraries, according to The Tax Foundation. The agency's budget, which was $70.3 million 10 years ago, was $112.9 million this year and will rise to $151.7 million in 1975.

New electric repair book solves current dilemmas

The new phrase, "Turn on a light, turn off a thief", illustrates the importance of electricity for both convenience and safety. Dark streets are now being lighted to curtail muggings.

Homeowners set timers to turn on lights while they are away. Outdoor lighting is an important safety factor. Flood or spotlights, depending on bulb selected, fit into various types of all-weather base receptacles. When connected to an automatic timer, or a bulb adapter with a magic eye, they can be set to go on at dark, off at daybreak, or time set. Since most burglaries occur under cover of darkness and relatively few criminals work under a spotlight, consider the added cost to your electrical bill some of the cheapest insurance you can buy.

A new book can help you rethink your electrical needs and existing wiring. Entitled "Easi-Bild Simplifies Electrical Repairs," it offers simplified step-by-step directions and easy to understand illustrations that take all the fear, mystery and inflated costs out of many electrical repairs. Knowing how a receptable, fixture or appliance is installed permits replacement at lowest possible cost.

If a fuse keeps blowing, don't panic into thinking it's a big deal. Most shorts can be traced and fixed easily if you have mapped your circuits and know which outlet, fixture and switch is on each circuit as suggested in this new book.

Never overload, the book warns. Before purchasing new equipment, check "start up" wattage every motor driven equipment requires. Decide where it is to be installed. To avoid blackouts, poor TV or radio reception, dimming or flickering lights when equipment starts, add up present wattage on circuit. Then run a new circuit if this is required.

For families that have children prone to push hairpins and small articles into outlets, there is a safety outlet with an automatic snap cap.

Send $2.00 in check or money order for Easi-Bild Simplifies Electrical Repairs Book No. 694 to The Pomona Progress-Bulletin, P. O. Box 215, Briarcliff Manor, NY 10510.

Roses offer beauty for low maintenance

Giving so much, Roses ask very little — sun and more sun, rich, fast draining soil, deep watering and regular feeding. Picking abundant blooms for bouquets is simply the frosting on the cake.

The incomparable beauty of their flowers, foliage and fragrance, together with the many different growth habits of the many types of Roses, make them useful in the landscape — as well as beautiful.

Miniature roses in pots in a sunny kitchen window, low-growing floribundas as colorful property dividers or landscape borders, climbers smothering with beauty the height and breadth of bare walls and fances, tree roses lining the walkway, and hybrid teas and grandifloras used generously as focal points in the garden, challenge all horticulture to duplicate their performance.

Planning their use in the garden is the key to realizing Roses' full potential, according to the California Association of Nurserymen. All types may be used effectively in garden settings — they combine nicely with the evergreen foliages of other landscape shrubs. Miniatures and floribundas in front to form a border, hybrid teas behind, followed by taller grandifloras, climbers on the fence for a backdrop and tree roses for tall side framing make up "The Complete Rose Garden." Used individually, the different types of Roses function beautifully, coloring the most formal landscape — here, there and everywhere.

Parading up the walk, or standing sentinel tall at the entrance, spectacular tree roses present fragrant beauty within easy reach of eye and nose. Long-stemmed hybrid teas and multi-flowered grandifloras make their abundant offerings available at stand-up bouquet cutting height. Floribundas and miniatures blanket themselves in color.

There are so many striking and hardy roses to choose from that the decision is purely a matter of your own preference. There are three new All-America Rose selections winners for 1975 — Oregold, a hybrid tea, Rose Parade, a floribunda and Arizona, a grandiflora — all are beautiful, hardy and deserving of prime consideration.

PRIZE WINNING 'OREGOLD' ROSE

Think strawberries

Elsewhere in the country, home gardeners are happy to be able to pick garden-fresh strawberries several weeks of the year. In the Golden State, however, it is possible to harvest and enjoy the luscious flavor of this favorite fruit crop at least half the year.

Nurseries have strawberry plants available right now in bare root sections. Though the plants will also be available later in nursery containers, the by-the-dozen economy of obtaining strawberry plants now is well known to veteran gardeners.

To assure best results, rely on the varieties offered by your local nursery. Most varieties of strawberries are especially adapted to a local climate; it is important to choose and plant the ones that will do best in your area

If you're interested in harvesting just a few berries for family enjoyment, use a dozen plants, or more, spaced 12-18 inches apart in any sunny location — be it in the vegetable garden or an available spot in the landscape. A rule of thumb is that each plant yields about one pint of berries.

For a big crop of strawberries, set the plants in rows, 18 inches apart. If the soil does not drain well, create low mounds (up to six inches) and set the plants in rows along the raised mounds — on 24-30 inch centers. Then, irrigate by using furrows between the mounds.

Gardener's Checklist

Water lawns if January rains are absent. Mow regularly; apply pre-emergence controls for crabgrass and other weeds now.

Plant artichokes, cane berries, asparagus, rhubarb and strawberries now. Nurseries have a big selection to choose from.

Don't forget to water gift plants received at Christmas time—keep moist, but not standing in water.

Not too late for planting annuals for mid-winter color. Top choices include Pansies, Violas, Calendulas, Primulas and Iceland Poppies.

January signals the start of the bare root season, which means, nurseries will have their largest selection of the year of roses, fruit trees, flowering and shade trees. Shop early to obtain the varieties you desire.

Build it yourself

Country-style hutch fits in anywhere at home

By STEVE ELLINGSON

You readers are really the ones who designed today's project. It came about as a result of the countless letters you've written. For instance, you said, "Give us a country-style cabinet that will go with almost any style of home furniture and can be used in the living room, dining room or den." And here it is. This charming, nostalgia-styled hutch measures almost 5 feet tall by 2½ feet wide.

Your letters also said, "Make this design so we can have shelves to show off our fancy dinnerware and knicknacks, with space for linen and silver." As you can see this has been done.

Next you requested that the project be so simple that anyone, even the most inexperienced amateur, could build it. You wanted the materials to be standard material readily available at any lumber yard. And that's just what we did. It shouldn't take more than three or four evenings to complete it, when you use our full-size pattern. Just trace the pattern parts onto wood, saw them out and assemble . . . it's that easy.

To obtain the full-size Country Hatch Pattern No. 141, send $1.25 (includes postage and handling). If airmail is desired, send $1.50 by cash, check or money order to:

Steve Ellingson, Pomona Progress-Bulletin Pattern Dept., P.O. Box 2383, Van Nuys, California 91409.
